Venice alleys tested for lead

By GEORGEANN MCCOES
of the Press-Record

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) took samples from Venice and Eagle Park Acres this week to test for lead-coated battery casings that were apparently broken up, spread on alleys and used as landfill and ground cover in the area.

A Press-Record reporter found pieces of the flat, hard rubber casings in a random examination of alleys between the 600 blocks of Broadway and Lincoln Avenue, and Lincoln and Washington Avenues and between the 700 block of Broadway and Brown Street.

Some of the battery pieces were found lying along the edge of the playground behind St. Mark Catholic School, 600 Broadway, Venice.

Press-Recorder Photographer Patrick Foley, who resided on the 600 block of Washington Avenue during the 1950s and 1960s, stated neighborhood games there involved handling chunks of the dark, light-weight material.

Venice City Clerk Ralph Brawley, former police chief, said he recalls the crushed battery casings, taken from the 200,000-ton lead waste pile at 15th and State Streets in Granite City, were used to fill in pavement holes sometime during the late 1950s or early 1960s.

When questioned earlier about the possibility of the casings being used to coat Venice alleys, Venice Street Superintendent Tom Scaturro said no city records are available to confirm the use of the material.

James J. Maloney, IEPA spokesman for the Division of Air Pollution Control, said about a dozen sites in Venice and Eagle Park Acres in Venice Township, including alleysways and places where children play, were tested for lead-contamination Tuesday and Wednesday. If necessary, additional testing was expected to be conducted today.

Laboratory processing of the samples should be completed in about a week.

Results will be turned over to IEPA officials, who then will decide if any action is warranted. (Following the discovery of high lead air levels here in 1981, the agency ordered blood tests of some residents and soil and ground-water tests for lead content.)

The IEPA reports low level lead exposure has been found to interfere with human blood production. Kidney, nerve cell and brain damage also are associated with lead exposure. Children are the most sensitive to the adverse health effects of lead.

The Press-Record has learned a resident living nearby the lead pile sought medical treatment for his dog in February after the animal suffered from a series of convulsive attacks. Dr. Phillip M. McKinney, a veterinarian who treated the animal at the Hawthorne Animal Hospital in Edwardsville, said the dog displayed disorders of the central nervous system.

A sample of the dog's blood, sent to a laboratory by Dr. McKinney, showed a blood lead level of .73 parts of lead for each million parts blood. A reading above .6 parts is considered a diagnosis of lead poisoning.

In the past, the veterinarian said he occasionally treated dogs for lead poisoning, when lead paint was used to paint houses.

The owner of the dog said the animal had often been allowed to roam outside within yards of the lead pile. The dog has since been removed from the waste pile area and no longer suffers from convulsions.

The resident subsequently had himself tested at the Illinois Department of Public Health Lead Poisoning Control Center in Granite City and was told he did not have a high blood lead level reading.

The IEPA is not currently issuing any advice to residents in reaction to the latest lead testing, while the agency waits for the alley and playground samples to be analyzed, Maloney said. However, preventing children from ingesting dirt and making sure they wash their hands before eating are advisable health habits in any situation, according to the IEPA spokesman.

Tony Lindsay, director of Taracorp, Inc., where the lead pile is located, said

Superfund sought for waste pile

The three-acre lead waste pile at 15th and State streets will be evaluated for federal Superfund monies set aside to clean up hazardous waste sites on a national priority list.

An unofficial estimate of $20 million has been suggested for disposal of the 200,000-ton waste lead pile.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) decided Friday to try to obtain federal assistance to clean up the site, after a liability claim against Taracorp, Inc., became stalled in bankruptcy court.

Taracorp, current owner of the waste pile site, was expected to file a corporate reorganization plan last month, but has yet to take such action.

James J. Maloney, spokesman for the IEPA Division of Air Pollution Control, said that with the economic future of Taracorp uncertain, the state decided get started with the Superfund evaluation process, while still pursuing Taracorp's liability in the situation.

Taracorp purchased the plant in 1979 from NL Industries, former owner of the site since 1928. The waste pile might have been started as early as Robert F. Castiel, public information officer with the IEPA Division on Land Pollution Control, said the state already has gathered the preliminary data needed to measure the eligibility of the Granite City site against federal EPA Superfund requirements.

Castiel said the data will be judged according to a MITRE formula used to determine the degree of hazard presented by the site. The state will be looking at a variety of environmental and safety factors, including the proximity of the waste pile to populated areas, when making its decision.

The results will be given to the federal EPA for a final review. The IEPA has currently accepted 11 Illinois sites for Superfund priority from among 57 sites proposed by the IEPA. Castiel said, acceptance by the IEPA does not mean immediate action could be taken here and that a long review and feasibility study of the situation would have to be completed.

He pointed out that no actual cleanup work has begun at any of the

Reflections on our history

Dedication to the betterment of this community and to the cause of good government has been a constant "way of life" at the Granite City Press-Record throughout its long history, employees and readers have pointed out (in today's Readers' Record on Page Four) during this week's observance of National Newspaper Week.

The Press-Record has grown with this community from a publication produced on an eight-page flatbed press to a colorful newspaper printed on the modern 56-page offset press facilities in Granite City.

To aid in achieving its goal of service to the Granite City area, the newspaper has emphasized comprehensive, in-depth coverage of happenings here—and at the county, regional, state and national levels when there is local impact.

This mirroring of the community as it grew and progressed industrially and residentially has been made possible by the continuity of knowledge and effort of skilled, long-term employees, thoroughly familiar with their "home town" and its environs, officials agree.

If one phrase could further describe the history of the Press-Record it might be "survival of the fittest." The Press-Record has survived two mergers, five changes in ownership, and competition from at least seven other newspapers.

Although the Press-Record still is officially celebrating its 80th year, its roots go back at least to April 22, 1903, about the time of the Great Flood.

Setting a pattern for the future, the flood received detailed, up-to-the-minute coverage in Press-Record news columns as its widespread devastation unfolded.

General newspapers have been traced only to the turn of the century, but portions of this area have a record history nearly as old as the nation itself. Madison County was created in 1812, a full six years before Illinois became a state.

Granite City was incorporated in 1866, its name chosen by the Niedringhaus family, founders of Granite City Steel. A major building boom already had occurred here before the Mississippi River waters went on their rampage in 1903.

It was during that year that Charles W. Judd, a St. Louis printer, arrived in Granite City. He borrowed $1,000 from his brother, John B. Judd, father of local Realtor Francis Judd, and started a job printing shop in the 1800 block of State Street.

When the city's only newspaper, then the Granite City Progress, closed down, Judd started the Granite City Press. He

Costello a candidate

St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry F. Costello announced Tuesday he will seek the Democratic Congressional nomination "regardless of who else may run."

Cong. Melvin Price, 78, said from Arlington, Va., that the candidacy would provide "more competition than I've had in a long time" but that it would not have a major effect on his re-election bid. "I am confident, I think I have a good chance of winning," Price commented. He is completing his 20th consecutive two-year term.

Costello, 44, described Price as a "good congressman" and a personal friend but alleged he is "no longer physically able to do the things he once did for the people of this district. He is not physically able to come home on a regular basis to meet with his constituents and he is no longer physically able to represent the people of this district in Washington."

Introduced at a Collinsville press conference by State Treasurer James Donnewald, Costello said he has been encouraged to run by community, civic, labor and Democratic party leaders.

He cited as issues unemployment, interest rates, utility bills and industrial stagnation.

Costello said, "Southern Illinois is fortunate to have Dick Durbin and Paul Simon, active members of Congress. But, while they have helped in the past, we cannot expect them to fight for the people of the 21st District. They were

Venice teachers ratify pact

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Venice School Board members heard good news at their regular meeting Tuesday night as Mariann Hankla, president of Venice Local 965, American Federation of Teachers, stated, "The union met tonight, and unanimously voted to accept the board's proposal."

Mrs. Hankla was referring to the latest offer to the teachers from the board's negotiating team, which has been attempting to forge a new one-year working agreement between Local 965 and the Venice School District.

Venice faculty members have been working without a contract since the start of the present school year. A previous two-year contract expired June 30 and negotiations have been ongoing since late summer.

Following the regular meeting, the board held an executive session when the terms of the new contract with Local 965 were reviewed in order to refresh members with the proposal.

Later, in open session, the board voted to accept the new agreement as proposed, with ratification taking place when the contract has been organized into a formal document, Supt. Vickers said.

It was learned a 5.8 percent pay increase is included in the new contract, which further expands to a total raise of 9.2 percent from July 30, 1984, when an $800 lump sum is paid across the board to all teachers.

The $800 amount then will be added to the next year's salary schedule, the administrator explained.

Supt. Vickers said a beginning teacher making $13,500 annually under the former agreement now will receive $14,200 a year. A teacher with 10 years experience will receive $18,700, as opposed to the former annual rate of $18,000. A 16-year teacher with a bachelor's degree making $26,000 under the former contract will receive $27,800 this year.

At the top of the salary schedule are teachers with 16 years, plus 16 credit hours and a master's degree, making BAC matinees will aid Ronald McDonald House Computers making education outdated?

BAC Theatres and McDonald's of Granite City are presenting "Matinee Madness" throughout October, November and December to benefit the children of the Ronald McDonald House. The Saturday matinee series beginning this month will feature G-rated children's movies such as "Superman III," "Heidi's Song," "Black Stallion Returns," "Star Trek II" and "Savannah Smiles." Tickets sell for $3.50 and entitle one to see all 10 shows. One dollar of each ticket will then go to the Ronald McDonald House in St. Louis.

The house, located at 4381 West Pine, is a home or families with seriously ill children. Now two years in operation, it houses as many as eight families at a time while their children undergo treatment at St. Louis Children's Hospital or Cardinal Glennon Hospital.

Stephen Bloomer, general manager of BAC Theatres, said, "This is the first time we've undergone such a project with The Ronald House. This is an outstanding cause and we aim to raise $5,000 for the children there. We urge the community to support us in our efforts."

Movie tickets are available at area elementary schools. For more information, interested persons may contact BAC Theatres at 1-233-5210.

Thomas C. O'Brien, professor of elementary education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, led two sessions at the annual meeting of the organization known as Computer Using Educators (CUE) this fall in San Jose, Calif.

The conference was attended by educators, authors and publishers from across the country who are interested in the use of computers in education. One of the sessions dealt with the impact of computers on the present curriculum. "The influence of computers in the classroom is likely to be very great," O'Brien said. "Both what we teach and how we teach it are likely to be fundamentally changed by the widespread availability of computers in schools and home."

For example, O'Brien said, much of mathematics involves speed and accuracy in computation, and yet present-day computers can perform a hundred million long multiplications in one second at a total cost of about a penny.

"The curriculum's emphasis on speed and accuracy in rote arithmetic procedures is plainly outdated," he said.

Present-day school children will live most of their lives in the 21st Century, and some of their children will be alive in the 22nd Century," O'Brien pointed out, adding that much of today's education is "preparing children for a world which ceased to exist long ago."

His other session at the conference focused on computer software which fosters the growth of children's thinking.

CONSTRUCTION WORK IS TOPIC OF SEMINAR

Eight residents of Illinois, including Fred Mercer of Granite City, were among a group of more than 100 from throughout the U.S. attending a two-day seminar on underground construction equipment last week in Perry, Okla.

The group represented utility companies and others who deal with burial of cable by using trenchers or related equipment. Mercer, of 67 Karen Drive, is Berkeley District transportation and distribution manager for the Union Electric Co.

Thomas Burns is awarded 33rd Degree

The Supreme Council of Scottish Rite, representing 15 northeastern and midwestern states in the Northern Jurisdiction of the United States, met this fall in Milwaukee and conferred its highest honor, the 33rd Degree, on 164.

Recipients included Thomas A. Burns, Granite City Rural Route One, Charles G. Kurrus III, 657 N. 57th St., Belleville, Victor H. Reinhardt, 416 E. Jefferson Ave., O'Fallon, and Albert K. Stuber, Route One, Kell, Ill.

More than 2,000 thirty-third degree Masons and wives attended the week-long annual meeting and ceremonies in late September.

Supreme Council directors were addressed by Dr. Clement M. Silvestro, managing director of the Scottish Rite Masonic Museum of Our National Heritage, Lexington, Mass.

Dr. Silvestro, former director of the Chicago Historical Society, announced installation of two new major exhibits during October. "The Loyal Americans," currently on display at the museum, displays objects from 27 museums and 16 private collections, including rare uniforms, flags, paintings, prints, furniture, firearms and household objects.

Opening later in October will be "the controversial Mr. Lincoln," commemorating the 175th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth. The exhibit reveals Pres. Lincoln as his contemporaries saw him, focusing on his roles as politician, emancipator, commander-in-chief and president. Included will be the Emancipation Proclamation on loan from the National Archives, and the original manuscript of the second Lincoln inaugural address, from the Library of Congress.

Stanley F. Maxwell, sovereign grand commander of the Northern Jurisdiction, Scottish Rite, urged the fraternity to adopt attitudes of optimism and hope in responding to the challenges of this era.

Speaking before the Supreme Council's annual meeting, Maxwell commented that "it is far easier at times to be a pessimist and to deplore what appear to be trends of the times."

"Our task is to continually remind ourselves and each other that freedom, individual aspiration, brotherhood and justice are not just ideas, they are real opportunities."

He added that Scottish Rite members seize opportunities in their roles as citizens who feel a direct responsibility to be a conscience of their communities.

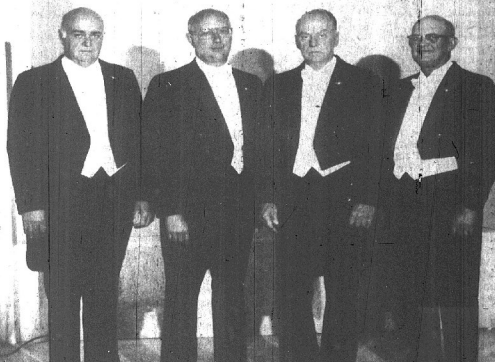

It was 50 years ago that the organization undertook its schizophrenia research program at a time when not much was being done to discover the underlying causes of that illness.

Maxwell said 19 new investigations have been selected for funding by the Supreme Council Benevolent Foundation at a cost of $692,535.

Another Scottish Rite project in the last decade was establishment of the Museum of Our National Heritage to mark the nation's bicentennial.

Maxwell congratulated members of the Rite for their commitment to preservation of the family unit. The Scottish Rite Masonic family life week will have its third yearly observance throughout the 15-state northern jurisdiction during the 1983 Thanksgiving week. There will be "Bringing Us Closer Together."

He announced renewal of yearly Leon M. Abbott scholarship awards to 12

More than 1,000 of the Masons' wives attended a luncheon at the convention center and were entertained by "a tribute to Oscar Hammerstein" and a fashion show. All at the annual meeting heard a special concert by the New Horizon Singers.

3 BLOCKED CROSSING COUNTS ARE FILED

Three charges of obstructing rail-street crossings were filed against the Norfolk & Western Railway after the Missouri Avenue, North 29th Street, Pameo Drive and West Pontoon Road crossings were blocked by a halted switch train for long periods between 1:00 and 1:56 a.m. last week. There were numerous complaints by motorists.

History reflections was soon faced with his first competition when Ben Ford opened the Granite City Herald a year later.

By 1908, the Herald was losing money and Ford sold out. The Press-Record then changed the name of the paper to the Press and the Herald. The paper was moved to the Herald building, 1880-83 Delmar Ave., and publication was changed from once-a-week, Wednesdays, to twice-a-week, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

During the time of the sale, the Granite City Record started publishing. For a while, the Record was a daily newspaper, but it soon reduced the frequency of its publication.

A merger of the two papers took place in 1912 and the surviving publication was known as the modern day Press-Record. W.J. Lynch and Elmer McNary were partners in the ownership of the paper and publication days were again changed, this time to Tuesdays and Fridays.

By the year 1919, the Press-Record was again engaged in competition, this time with the Granite City Post, a newspaper located just across the street from it. Other competitors included the Madison Republic, a four-page weekly newspaper. The Post disbanded shortly but the Madison Republic was destined to last until 1952, when the paper was bought out.

On April 1, 1927, E.C. Campbell became the owner of the Press-Record. Construction of the Press-Record's new headquarters was begun at that time and the move to 1815 Delmar Ave. took place in early 1928.

Campbell converted the paper's production equipment from an eight-page flatbed design to a large rotary press for greater speed and better appearance.

"Ed" Campbell had dreams of making the paper into a daily, which was apparent by the sign on the paper's building reading "Daily Press-Record." The sign lasted for a number of years, until one of the owners' remodeling projects eliminated it.

The idea of daily publication was never realized, but growth continued and today the Press-Record is one of the best equipped non-daily newspapers anywhere. The offset web press is among the most modern at any newspaper in the region.

The depression of the 1930s took its toll on the Quad-City area. The Civilian Conservation Corps and Works Progress Administration, federally-funded programs, at one time were the main sources of employment.

The Press-Record was hit not only with hard times but with more competition, this time from a weekly publication known as the Granite City Tribune. But that paper went out as quickly as it came in.

The Press-Record again changed its publication days to meet the needs of the community; the days have stayed at Monday and Thursday ever since. Though the size of the paper became a bit slimmer in the jobless '30s, it operated during those lean years without interruption.

Just before the post-World War II years ushered in an era of unprecedented expansion and prosperity, with Granite City growing rapidly to the east and north, a major change took place at the Press-Record. On April 1, 1944, management of the paper was taken over by C.E. Townsend. In 1947, he became the owner.

The newspaper won numerous awards under his direction, aggressively reporting on local trends, even when this led to confrontations with organized gamblers and gangsters.

Threats and gunplay occurred. Bullets were fired into the Press-Record building and reporters were threatened, but the community was able to turn the corner from rambunctious and lawless conditions to become good, safe place in which to live, play, shop, work and raise a family, residents recall.

The size of the newspaper staff topped 35 and a two-story annex was built to house new offices.

The Press-Record was under Townsend's leadership for 26 years, the longest span in the history of the newspaper. Although now retired, he remains involved in local community activities, including St. Elizabeth Medical Center board and committee duties.

Townsend sold the company to the Post Corporation of Appleton, Wis., in June 1970. Paul G. Halbert became general manager and Bill Winter became editor at that time. Winter had joined the staff in the 1940s and Halbert had been associated with the Press-Record since the 1950s.

The Press-Record, during the time it was owned by the Post Corp., purchased the Collinsville Herald from the Monroe family. Halbert is general manager of both of these newspapers. Karl Monroe stayed on as Herald editor and now is senior editor, with Judy Taplin as editor of the Herald.

Harry A. Barnes, who joined the Press-Record news staff in 1964, moved up to the editor's position here in June 1980.

Following Barnes' death in April 1982, Gary R. Schneider, age 38, became the editor; he had held positions of increasing responsibility since joining the Press-Record news staff in August 1970, coming here from the daily Terre Haute (Ind.) Tribune.

On Sept. 8 of this year, Post Corp., which has no connection with the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, reached an agreement for the sale of its assets to Gillet Communications Inc. of Nashville, Tenn. The sale has not yet been formalized. No staff changes are planned.

Press-Record editorial staff members include Editor Schneider, Walter, Valerie Evenden, Donna Kimbrough, Patrick Foley, George McGee, Alan Gersteneker and Susan Signatigo-Weich.

Part-time reporters include Roger Kramer, Pat Hay-Lutz, Mike Bartels, Steve Whitworth, Belinda Conley and Paula Wise.

The administrative and business staff consists of General Manager Halbert, Ann Howard, Thelma Patrick, Gerri Kelly, Beth Kovach and Doris Baehle.

Display advertising staff members are Mick Warford, manager, and Al Barnes, Jerry Bonfiglio and Karen Miller.

Members of the composing room staff are Foreman Lloyd Lerch, Assistant Foreman Frank Spahr, Frank Rodgers Jr., Bill Diener, Joe Wallace, Dorothy Branz, Al Edwards, Les Gieselman and Elaine Scott.

Distributors are Elmer Miller and Mike Miller.

of shot, sheet lead and various lead products, while buying lead from other sources.

The company has gradually reduced its recent work force from a peak 340 about two years ago to 140 employees.

The IEPA already has found significant lead content in soil samples taken in the Granite City, Madison and Venice areas last year. High lead air violations were recorded in 1981 and lesser violations were recorded in 1982.

In April, parents living near Tarascope were advised to not allow their young children to play in the dirt or eat outdoors. Gardeners were advised to thoroughly wash home grown vegetables. The recommendations are still in effect.

The IEPA expects to make an announcement about tests taken this week within the next 10 days.

Higher insurance costs, which rose 17 percent last year, will no longer be borne by the district in the future, Vickers explained.

A new stipulation calls for teachers to secure four additional quarters of college credits, or their equivalent, within a three-year period in order to qualify for future salary raises.

Vickers said this provision, however, does not take effect immediately. He noted also the concept of a teacher advancing his or her educational career to qualify for pay increases appears to be a first within school districts in Madison County.

Dream Factory fulfills wish of a local child

David "Josh" Smith, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David (Rebecca) Smith, 1918 Fourth St., Madison, was recently granted his "wish" by the Dream Factory, a non-profit organization that helps fulfill dreams of critically ill children.

Josh, who is being treated for leukemia, expressed a wish for a color television set two weeks ago. On Tuesday, Jack Scholberger and Ruth Schroeder, representatives from the Dream Factory, delivered a 19-inch color TV to Josh.

Josh smiled happily, saying that he was glad because now he would be able to watch his favorite shows "E.T." and "The Knight Rider."

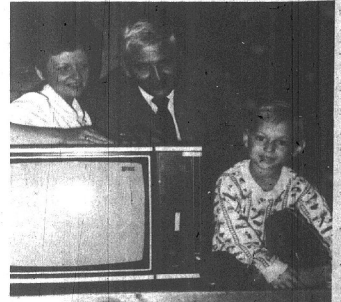

The first chapter of the Dream Factory was formed in December 1980 in Hopkinsville, Ky. The St. Louis Metro Chapter held its charter meeting at the Sheraton Convention Center on Aug. 10, 1983. The meeting place has since been relocated to Parkway East Junior High School in Creve Coeur, Mo.

Once a dream request is received, a screening committee in each chapter of the Dream Factory works with the Hospital Special Services Division, as well as the patient's doctor and family, to ensure that the patient and his family are in need of such a service and that the patient would not be endangered in any way if his wish were granted.

"The wish may be anything, but it usually is a trip somewhere for the whole family," said Scholberger. "This way, the family can get away and not worry about the child's illness for a few days."

Anyone interested in donating his time or financial support to the organization may call 451-3710 or 1-314-849-1582.

New 30-yr. prison term for Anderson

Don Benny Anderson, 42, already serving 30 years on federal charges related to the August 1982 kidnapping of Dr. and Mrs. Hector Zevallos, was sentenced to another 30 years Monday for firebombings in Clearwater and St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Pearlman, Texas, abortion foe pleaded "no contest" at St. Petersburg to state charges that he burned two clinics in the Zevallos case, he had tried to obtain closing of the Hope Clinic for Women here.

His plea on two counts of second-degree arson was accepted by Pinellas County Circuit Judge Gerard O'Brien, who sentenced him to 15 years on each count.

The 30 years will be concurrent with the 30-year sentence imposed by U.S. District Judge William L. Beatty for obstructing interstate commerce by threats or violence.

Pinellas County Assistant State Attorney Ted Hogan said Matthew M. Moore, 21, of New Caney, Texas, was transferred to Florida this week to face the same arson charges.

Moore was sentenced by Judge Beatty to eight years in prison for his role in the Zevallos abduction. He is expected to receive a concurrent sentence upon making a plea in the Florida case.

Anderson, Moore and the latter's brother, Wayne A. Moore, 19, New Caney, formed the "Army of God" and abducted Dr. Zevallos and his wife, Rosalie Jean, from their home near Sunset Hills Country Club. The couple was freed, physically unharmed, eight days later.

Hogan said Matthew Moore also discussed pointing a gun at the owner of the two clinics, Dr. Michael Nauert, during threats and a robbery in November 1981.

Anderson is being taken from Florida to Falls Church, Va., where he is under indictment for the June 1982 bombing of a clinic. The Moores were named as unindicted co-conspirators there.

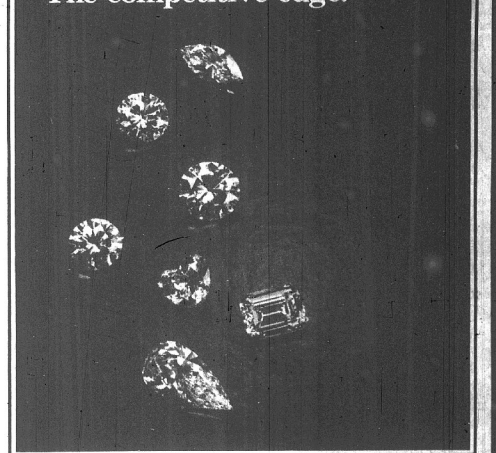

Hogan voiced satisfaction with Anderson's new sentence, commenting, "We're convinced he was the ring leader. He is a very interesting person and a very dangerous man."

"There were no injuries in the clinic fires," Hogan said, "was some kind of terrorist act, intended to bring attention to the abortion issue."

Speed criminal appeal process

Illinois Supreme Court Chief Justice Howard Ryan is right in saying that appeals of criminal cases, especially death sentence appeals, ought to be speeded. Perhaps, in view of the high stakes he holds, he can help do something about the problem.

In the "state of the judiciary" address at the 30th annual Illinois Judicial Conference three-day meeting, Ryan said, "It is taking far too long to process criminal appeals." Stressing that he does not advocate "frontier justice"—hang them and then give them a fair trial—he voiced concern for the feelings of those endlessly facing, but not actually receiving, capital punishment.

Four hundred judges from appellate, circuit and supreme courts heard him defend the need for due process but also heard him assert that "by concentrating on various aspects of due process and on our concern for the rights of the accused, the judicial system has unwittingly created a cruel form of torture."

A prisoner whose execution is repeatedly re-set and delayed goes through a harrowing experience, Chief Justice Ryan said, citing a Texas inmate whose life was spared only a few minutes before he was to be executed, shortly after midnight Oct. 5.

Because federal courts can intervene in state-imposed death penalty cases, state courts cannot totally control the length of an appeal; but the state should take whatever steps it can to shorten the time a defendant is "kept on the rack," the gathering was told.

Ryan said that of 25 death sentences reviewed by the Illinois Supreme Court since capital punishment was reinstated, only 10 were affirmed and the other 15 were "needlessly subjected to a period of torture" by being sent to Death Row.

He concluded, "Undoubtedly, part of the answer will be additional funding for more personnel in the offices of those who prosecute and those who defend."

Of course, throwing money at a problem is not always the surest path to a solution. The chief justice did not say so, but his recommendation also could be interpreted as suggesting that all who play roles in the process might try taking a slightly less leisurely approach to some of their tasks and timetables.

In any case, a special committee made up of judges and attorneys will study potential ways to speed up criminal trial appeals, in awareness that time can be cruel and that "cruel and unusual punishment" is unconstitutional.

Special fire hazards in 1983

If Illinoisans take a somewhat proprietary interest in National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15, it is partly because public awareness of fire tragedies is most often linked to the destructive Chicago fire of 1871.

A lantern in a barn was kicked over by a cow, as the legend goes, resulting in a blaze that swept through three and one-half square miles of populated property and took 250 lives.

As bad as that fire was, and the Chicago area parochial school fire that killed more than 100 boys and girls in this century, they are not the most severe that the nation has encountered.

In the same year as the 1871 Chicago fire, flames devastated 1,200,000 acres of forest land near Green Bay in Wisconsin, claiming 1,500 lives. Later that month—October 1871, the Humboldt forest fire in Wisconsin killed 750 persons and consumed 340,000 acres of timber.

Observance of Fire Prevention Week, appropriately emphasizing steps to prevent household fires, also coincides with the peak forest fire season in Illinois, it is noted by Al Mickelson, chief of the Illinois Conservation Department's Division of Forest Resources and Natural Heritage.

As Mickelson points out, due to the disastrous 1983 drought there is extra concern this year about wildfire and the other victims of forest fires.

Such blazes reduce soil fertility, increase erosion, end sources of logs and paper, encourage muddy streams and rivers by destroying the surrounding watershed, and eliminate many animals' habitat.

He concludes, "It is especially important this fall, because of the summer's drought, to be extra careful with any type of outdoor burning. Landowners need to plan fire lanes around the brush they want to burn, burn when the wind is down, keep brush piles small, not stack them on the windward side of the pile, and avoid leaving fires unattended. Illinoisans also need to be cautious with campfires, cigarettes and power equipment as well as all the possible fire hazards around one's home."

Unsigned Forum letters not used

We have received some very interesting Forum letters recently dealing with the Parkway Drive maintenance, Madison politics, allegations against the Economic Opportunity Commission and other subjects. Unfortunately, we cannot use them.

It is a necessary policy of the editor of a Forum letter that the author of a Forum letter identify himself or herself if the letters are to be used. This has been stressed on previous editorial pages.

While we would prefer that all writers to the Forum allow their names to be printed with their letters, in certain cases where there is a good reason, the names can be omitted from the newspaper. Examples are city employees who wish to express views different from those of the city administration without jeopardizing their jobs.

In such instances, to demand that names be used with letters would be to deny those persons the freedom of speech of expressing their views in the Forum.

However, it is essential that the editor know who the author is and how to contact the writer to confirm authority to avoid practical jokes or wild accusations in the Forum with no truth behind them.

We hear rumors that some readers feel the Press-

Record only prints one side of certain issues. When someone with an opposing viewpoint writes a Forum letter and it is not used, it further supports that argument. Actually, the reason it is not used, in most cases, is not because this newspaper refuses to print opposing viewpoints (we do quite frequently), but because the writer refused to identify himself.

Letters also are rejected if they are libelous, in poor taste, unsubstantiated, harm the reputations of others without just cause, are in poetry or are not in the interest of the general public of the Quad-City area. The Forum cannot be used for "think you" notices between one individual and another or one group to another.

We are extremely pleased with the popularity and use of the Forum by Quad-Cityans and others. We feel it is an excellent way to express public opinions about issues affecting the public and the hundreds of letters we receive each month confirm that many others feel that way.

However, we urge our readers to understand one basic rule of the Forum — if the letter is not signed and does not carry a telephone number or address, we will not use it, regardless of subject.

"The traveling public should pay for passing across bridges," Mayor Stephen Maeras said Tuesday night in announcing that the city is seeking through Congress and the Department of Commerce to throw the plan for a free federal bridge near the Madison-owned Chain of Rocks Bridge. Coming out flatly for the principle of tolls for bridge crossings, Maeras told Madison aldermen he has just written to Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks urging that the federal highway plan be altered to include the present Chain of Rocks Bridge and a companion bridge which Madison officials would like to build. He pointed out that the proposed second city bridge would be built without tax money.

The call also includes restoration of $40 million in transportation bond funds inadvertently omitted by the legislature in its ap-

"At the same time, the legislature should be able to conclude its work on the state lottery, which was on the verge of passage last session."

Feels trucks are more important than meters downtown without enforcing traffic laws. I recently received a parking ticket for forgetting to feed a dime into a parking meter. All day, everyday tractor trailers run down 19th Street and police officers watch them as they write parking tickets.

After a parking ticket was issued, I spoke to the city treasurer's office. The treasurer's office told me meters were enforced from 8 to 5 Mondays through Fridays.

I then talked to a sidewalkman from Granite City who told me 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays. As it turns out, the meters do have effective times inside them. The times are underneath so much dirt you can barely read them. The meters are in effect 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily and 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Fridays in some locations. Most meters here were from street to street, but no one I talked to actually knew when the meters were in effect.

I, as a downtown worker, wish the city would crack down on truck traffic on 19th Street and not be so concerned with whether or not someone was given them a dime. Times are bad enough without the city annoying our customers over nickies and dimes.

Trucks concern us as many people bring small children downtown, who have to cross the street.

With semis having to take longer to stop, it's only a matter of time until someone is killed. I fear that only then, the city will finally wake up and stop worrying about the meters and worry about customer safety.

HAVE SEEN, WILL CONQUER

New interest in home health care

By W. L. KEMPINERS

Ill. Public Health Director

Years ago, health care, from birth to death, was centered in the home.

During the past 30 to 40 years, however, the medical profession and consumers seemed to lose sight of the value of the home as a primary health-care center.

What caused this shift in emphasis from home health care to institutional care? Many factors were involved — the rapid expansion of medical services, the development of sophisticated equipment (such as CAT body scanners) and the increase in medical facilities.

But now the pendulum is beginning to swing back the other way. The rising cost of health care is generating renewed interest in the value of home care.

Many of us, however, just don't know whether in-home care is appropriate, or where and how to obtain it.

The state health department has a few general guidelines you can use to determine whether you should consider home health care and, if so, how to obtain it.

First, there are a number of circumstances under which you should consider home health care. For example, most people who are hospitalized for illness or surgery want to get out of the hospital as soon as possible.

And many people who have chronic conditions, like diabetes or arthritis, want to stay at home instead of going to the hospital or into a nursing home.

In some families, the mother, the father or one of the children may be suffering from an injury (like a broken leg) or an illness that disables them in some way and requires special care and attention.

Then, too, there are instances where a member of the family is recuperating from a heart attack or a stroke, or has a terminal illness.

In all of these cases, you may want to consider the possibility of health care at home, rather than in a hospital or a nursing home.

There are advantages to home health care — you are free from hospital routine; you can see your friends and family as often as you like; dress as you please; have your own bed, your favorite chair, the company of your pets, your own television and telephone.

In addition to all these benefits, you have the satisfaction of knowing that you're receiving — and paying for — only the care you need.

If you think you want home health care, one of the first things you should do is check out your insurance coverage, and find out if it covers home health care, and under what circumstances.

Then, find a home-health agency. You can do that in several ways: ask at the hospital, if you've been hospitalized; check with your caseworker, if you're a public aid recipient; contact the Illinois Department on Aging; or contact us at the state health department.

You can write to the Illinois Department of Public Health, Health Facility Standards, 525 W. Jefferson, Springfield, Ill. 62761; or you may call us at (217) 785-2628.

Census in this area next week

The U.S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular survey on employment and unemployment in this area during the week of October 17 to 22, 1983, according to Marvin L. Postma, director of the Bureau's regional office in Kansas City.

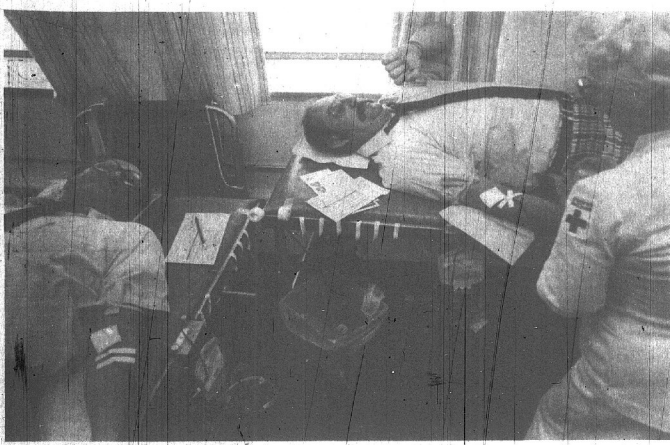

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the October survey will contain questions on school enrollment. Also, questions will be asked to obtain information on non-collegiate post secondary enrollment, and students' mobility, as well as time spent on homework by elementary and high school students.

Households in this area are part of the sample of 72,000 across the country scientifically selected.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Another drive is planned for next year but, due to the somewhat crowded conditions in the early afternoon hours this year, a change of hours and procedures will be considered.

County election tax discussed

By JIM WOODCOCK
The financial plight of Madison County government has produced the suggestion of a tax increase in one tax fund.

The subject of a tax increase for a special fund to finance elections was broached in a finance committee meeting. Committee members emphasized it was nothing more than a suggestion.

County Board members, full aware of the political implications, don't even like to say the words "tax hike." But they were urged as the committee worked on the 1984 budget, which will be voted on by the full board in November. The new fiscal year begins Dec. 1.

The Madison County

general fund will receive virtually no additional revenue for fiscal 1984, but county departments have asked for budget increases already totaling $1 million over last year.

Two weeks ago, the finance committee warned that county departments relying on the general fund should prepare to receive almost the identical budget allowance as in fiscal 1983.

The general fund finances most major county departments, such as the sheriff's department, treasurer and county clerk.

Approximately $11 million was allocated for general fund departments in fiscal 1983.

What this means for the finance committee is twice-weekly meetings to sort out and evaluate the budget requests for fiscal 1984.

The sheriff's department, records of deeds, data processing and building and land departments are among county departments asking the largest increase over last year.

Finance committee members know they have a sticky situation on their hands because some departments requesting an increase may actually suffer a cut to provide money for another department.

One solution would be to raise taxes in the general fund. However, finance committee member Alan Dunstan, Troy, said he thought most board members would turn down such an alternative.

The possible increase discussed would involve the special tax fund for elections but would ultimately help the general fund.

Currently, the tax rate for elections is three cents per $100 assessed valuation, but the Illinois legislature recently approved legislation to raise the rate to a maximum of 5.5 cents. This maximum would generate an additional $225,000, the committee was told.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, at the finance committee meeting, said she expects the 1984 primary and general election to cost the county around $500,000.

The general fund could indirectly benefit from such a tax increase because the county clerk's office would lower its budget by the same amount as the hike in the special fund tax.

The money cut from the county clerk's office would then be used in the general fund pool, while the county clerk waited to be reimbursed from the money generated by the hike in the special fund tax.

Finance committee members said the idea of raising the tax for the election department will need a good deal more study.

Finance members indicated they will meet "as often as is needed" to discuss budget allowances and the tax hike proposal, both of which would require board approval.

Other alternatives are giving each department the identical budget it received in fiscal 1983, or moving some departments from the general fund into departments financed by special fund taxes.

The special fund monies pay for county operations such as the detention home, mental health administration, and highway and bridge fund.

However, the special funds are also hurting for money.

Prisoners' art display, cookie crunch at mall

Beware of poisonous spiders

By RON CORNWELL
County Farm Adviser

The Brown Recluse spider is one of two poisonous spiders found in Southern Illinois. The other is the Black Widow.

Black widows usually are found outdoors in sheds, garages, rubbish piles and other areas. Only the female will bite.

She can be identified by a red "hour glass" design on the abdomen. Otherwise, she is all black.

The Brown Recluse can be found in any room of a home, usually concealed in cracks. It is chocolate brown with a dark fiddle-shaped mark behind its head.

The Brown Recluse is normally a timid spider and stays in dark, secluded areas of the home and other buildings.

During the late-summer and fall, the spider tends to move around. This is often the time of year the spiders are found. They tend to stay out of sight the rest of the year.

Both the male and female of the Brown Recluse spider will bite. In some cases, the bite is not noticed immediately and in other cases the pain is immediate.

To control spiders around the home, use diazinon as an outside foundation spray.

In the home, baseboards, cracks and door thresholds can be treated with ready-to-use sprays, containing diazinon, dursban or baygon.

Rubbish piles and other areas that can harbor spiders should be cleared. Shake and inspect clothing that has been hanging in the closet for long periods of time before wearing it.

SERVE WARRANT

Conchie S. Cox, 35, of 704 Ashland Ave., Mitchell, was arrested during the weekend at 1535 E. 20th St. on a warrant alleging theft. She released upon posting a $102 cash bond.

Three GCHS students commended after test

Granite City High School has been notified that three of its students have been designated commended students in the 1984 National Merit Scholarship Program. Gilbert V. Wainsley, principal, announced that Thomas J. Adamitis, Anita L. Rojas and James A. Moad placed in the top five percent of more than one million participants in the 29th annual Merit Program. Although commended students will not receive further consideration for merit scholarships, each has demonstrated exceptional academic promise and will be honored with a letter of commendation.

An officer of National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), which administers the program, stated that, "The outstanding test performance of each commended student in the highly competitive Merit Program is an attainment deserving of recognition. In a nation that places great value on the education of its young people, it is important to honor academically talented students and to acknowledge the part that schools play in the development of their abilities."

CHARGED WITH LITTERING ALLEY

William L. Harris, 23, of the 2200 block of Bryan Avenue, was charged with littering after debris was seen being discarded from a vehicle, allegedly belonging to him, in the 2200 and 2800 block alleys between Lincoln Avenue and East 24th Street.

A resident in the area alleged trash and trash bags were being discarded from a blue and white pickup truck as it was traveling east in the alleyways. Efforts to locate the truck owner were not immediately successful.

Harris, who was moving from a residence in the 2400 block of Lincoln Avenue, came to police headquarters later and said he was unaware of the items falling out of the truck. He agreed to clean up the debris, reports said.

Despite arguments from Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs and Highway Commissioner Frank Mellich, a woman whose job position was abolished by Mellich last week was hired as secretary to the town clerk. Trustees voted Tuesday to hire Shirley Denson to serve as secretary to Briggs, Mellich and Town Clerk Lee Ridgeway, with Briggs casting the only opposing vote.

Trustee W. Lee Adams recommended Mrs. Denson to the board, saying that she is qualified because of her previous association with office procedures. Mrs. Denson's position as Mellich's dispatcher was abolished last week and Adams suggested that she and her husband were both out of work, saying, "Here's a family with both parents out of work and she knows how to do the job."

Both Briggs and Mellich argued that a meeting with Denson would be another choice for the position, and they stated that they preferred to stick to their decision. Briggs also commented that hiring Mrs. Denson for the position might cause some union problems, "but refused to elaborate on what those problems might be."

Mrs. Denson was a union member while employed by Mellich.

Recyclers waste disposal system will be chosen by the job. The IEPA would decide what company would clean up the site, based on a public hearing and record bid procedures.

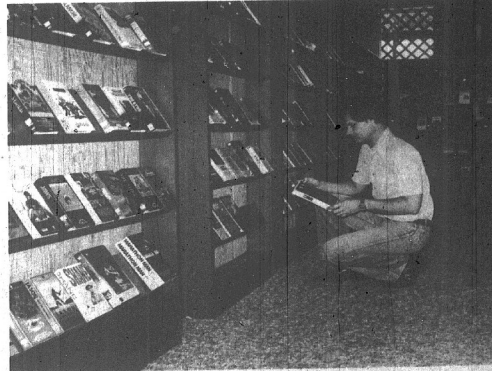

Carol "Bud" Gates, Granite City sanitation department employee, has turned over to the St. Louis Recyclers company a 300-signature petition asking the IEPA to nominate the waste site for federal funds and emphasizing the availability of St. Louis Recyclers' process.

Gates became aware of the lead waste pile two years ago, after residents began complaining about runoff from the site. He said the pile was flowing into city streets, and residents were worried the waste might be hazardous. The complaints stopped after St. Louis Recyclers began its reclamation process, according to the city employee.

Gates has asked James Stack Jr., St. Louis Recyclers manager, to submit the petition to the IEPA.

Van in ditch, charge driver

An Illinois State trooper notified local police of a vehicle in a ditch on the east side of Route 3, about a half-mile north of 20th Street, at 12:35 a.m. Tuesday.

Gary W. Greenwood, 29, of St. Louis, the driver, allegedly was asleep behind the wheel of a van and the officers had difficulty awakening the man, who was unsure how he got there, reports said.

Greenwood apparently was turning east from Route 3 onto Rock Road when the van went off the south side of Rock Road and followed a ditch some distance alongside the highway.

The vehicle traveled up the shoulder of Route 3 twice and finally became stuck, reports said. A bottle of beer allegedly was found beside the driver's seat.

Greenwood, who was not injured, declined to take a breathalyzer test and was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, illegal transportation of alcohol and driving with a suspended driver's license. He was released from custody at 3 a.m. Tuesday after posting a $302 cash bond.

Madison seeks $50 fine for littering

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

A renewed effort to eliminate littering in Madison was brought to the attention of the alderman Tuesday night when Mayor Mike Sasyk asked for council approval to have Casper Nighoshian, city attorney, to prepare an anti-litter ordinance to be submitted at the next regular meeting.

The request for such an ordinance was recommended by the mayor and approved by the aldermen at the Aug. 17 meeting, but there apparently has not been any action on the problem since that time.

Mayor Sasyk asked that the minimum fine be changed to $50, instead of the original $25 fee and be arrested after the first offense.

Alderman William Gushel asked if it would not be wise to leave the first offense fee at $25 and Mayor Sasyk answered, "If we are going to do this, we might as well do it right, so I propose the fee be $50 for the first offense."

"There is no reason for people to throw soda cans and papers at the shopping center, since there are several trash containers setting there for that purpose," the mayor admonished.

In other business, the mayor said, "I have read a copy of the police report for September and want to compliment the department for their crime comparison traffic arrests during the month."

During the previous meeting the mayor expressed disapproval of the police officers after reading the August report that listed no traffic arrests by five officers and a total of 18 traffic arrests made by the remaining five officers for the same period of time.

September's report itemized 50 traffic arrests for 10 officers.

Chief of Police Donald Bridick submitted the month's crime comparison report, noting there was no increase or decrease in crime for the month of September 1983 as compared to the month of September 1982. Burglaries for the month included four residential, one garage and one school. The total amount collected in fines was $1,668.

In other business, the councilmen gave approval to Fire Chief Mike Macke to advertise for bid for new equipment needed by the fire department. Items needed are, one K-12 type saw for rescue and ventilation; two booster line nozzles; two self-contained breathing masks with tanks, four spare 30 minute air tanks for the self-contained masks; 250 foot of three-inch hose; 600 foot of 1 1/2-inch hose; 250 foot of 3/4-inch hose and miscellaneous fittings, adapters and connectors for hose hook-up.

The aldermen approved a recommendation from the Zoning Board for William Weismiller of Florissant, Mo., to be given a special use permit to allow 1009 Third St. to be used as a multiple family dwelling, with the stipulation that provision be made for parking at the rear of the property. Permission also was granted to Lloyd Burris, 1702 Sixth St., Madison, for a special use permit to construct a garage on old footing 20 inches from the property line.

Bills in the amount of $50,412 were approved during the meeting for payment.

RICK REED, attorney at law, has opened a law office at 3723 Nameoki Road, his third. He also has offices in Belleville and Cahokia. Reed holds a bachelor's and master's degrees from Southern Illinois University and his law degree from St. Louis University School of Law. Reed also is a part-time faculty member at Webster College, where he teaches public law and administrative law. He practices general law. The telephone number at the new office is 876-0343.

Citizens Forum hears home rule speaker

About 60 residents attended a discussion on governmental home rule given by Dr. Brian Donnelly of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The talk was sponsored by the Granite City Citizens' Forum and was conducted at the Harold Brown Recreation Center.

Dr. Donnelly outlined some of the advantages and disadvantages of a home rule government, which is used by Granite City.

According to Don Conley, president of the Citizens' Forum, the group will continue to research the implications of home rule.

During the meeting, Conley talked about voter apathy in the area. Citing statistics from the November 1982 election, he said only 70 percent, or 17,467 of the eligible 25,000 citizens, registered to vote in that election.

"Based on that voter turnout, if the vote was split between only two candidates, a mere 18.74 percent of the citizens old enough to vote could elect candidates to serve the city," according to a statement issued by the group.

Conley stressed the urgency of voter registration and the need to get residents to participate in a positive way in Granite City.

A report was given on the on-going petition drive to request the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to withdraw its request for automobile exhaust testing in the area. Also discussed was a possible petition drive to ask for federal Superfund to clean up the large lead waste pile in Granite City.

The group has issued invitations to Granite City school board candidates to speak at the 7 p.m. Oct. 24 meeting, to be conducted at Lincoln Place Community Center, 822 Niedringhaus Ave.

Program aimed at giving the area jobless new work skills

By JIM SCHLUETER

Plant closings and layoffs have become a fact of life for many Madison County workers, and today's technological advances may not be good news to workers whose skills are becoming obsolete.

But a solution for some of the county's unemployed may be coming in the not-so-distant future. Thanks to a state grant award of $440,000, the county is setting up a dislocated worker program to help the unemployed acquire more marketable job skills.

"We're targeted toward workers who have been released because of high technology improvements and plant closings such as Owens-Illinois and A. O. Smith," program administrator Don Young said. "There are people who have been working for a company for a number of years, who, after all of that time, are now on the outside. Their skills are not in demand any more."

Young said the name of the county program will be the Center for Assessment, Retraining and Employment (CARE). It will depend on area institutions such as SIUE, Lewis and Clark Community College and the Granite City Center of Belleville Area College for classes and training sessions.

According to Young, the Job Service division of the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security will soon give the county a list of job skills which should be in demand in the area. The county will then take these skills to the area colleges, who will set up classes for the jobless workers in the county program.

Although the county has not yet received the list of skills which may be taught here, Young said the county sent a list of more than a dozen possible skills to the state when applying for the grant. Included in that list were data processing, insurance adjusting, heating and refrigeration repair, business machine repair and nursing.

Young said the CARE staff will try to match a person's existing skills and job background with the job skills that will be taught.

"It's up to the Job Service people to review the list we sent," Young said. "They'll certify some and modify others."

Besides training, Young said the program also will help people with resumes and prepare them for job interviews.

Another detail to be ironed out is how workers may apply and how many people will be able to enter the program. Young hopes workers will be able to apply at their local Job Service office.

The applications would then be forwarded to a dislocated worker program office. Staff workers would then rank the applicants on such criteria as length of time unemployed and number of children. The higher-ranked applicants would get the first chance to enter the program.

Young said the program will be under the supervision of the Madison County board, which gave its approval at its July meeting.

The dislocated worker program is part of the Job Training Partnership Act, which Young said is the Reagan administration's alternative to CETA.

The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs will administer the program at the state level, and that agency must give its final approval before the county program can begin.

And when the program gets started, Young hopes applicants and others involved with CARE will have patience.

"This is a whole new program for everybody," he said. "We're learning something new every day."

Currently, the Dislocated Workers Program is enrolling eligible people in one-day job shops, which teach job search skills, including how to fill out application, read want ads and prepare a resume, and another three-week program, career search, which is a self-directed intensified job search class, which taps the hidden job market. Participants learn telephone techniques, resume preparation, how to interview, follow-up on job leads and how to transfer their job experience to current job openings.

Grants are available for handicapped ramps

Madison County EOC has received funding from the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs to build ramps for permanently handicapped persons in Madison County. The funds for this project are part of the Community Services Block Grant operated by EOC.

The purpose of the program is to upgrade the accessibility on the homes of low-income handicapped persons. This will lead to improved job opportunities, keep persons from being institutionalized, and enable the handicapped to receive rehabilitation services they otherwise could not obtain, a spokesman said.

To be eligible for this program, a person must be permanently confined to a wheelchair, a resident of Madison County, a homeowner, and must be within 200 percent of the poverty income guidelines. Handicapped persons with incomes between 125 percent and 200 percent of the income guidelines will be charged a sliding fee scale, based on family income.

For additional information about this program, interested persons may contact any Madison County EOC outreach office or the Madison County Administrative Office.

Car hits engine two men injured

Two men were injured at 11:05 p.m. Monday when their auto struck the side of a locomotive moving across Edwardsville Road at 14th Street.

Harry A. Cavaness, 38, of 1207 Rhodes St., driver of the northbound auto, was taken by city ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He also was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol.

A passenger in his vehicle, Ron Rollin, 42, of 2125 Illinois Ave., also was hurt and was taken to the medical center by Simmons Ambulance Service of East St. Louis.

James Peterson of St. Louis, engineer of the Chicago & North Western train, reported the railroad crossing lights were flashing at the time the accident occurred.

Wolf bill will promote use of gasoline fuels here

The Illinois Department of Agriculture will be required to set up a program to promote the use of gasoline under legislation supported by State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) that has been signed into law.

"Increased use of gasoline can only have a positive impact on the Illinois economy," Wolf said. "Gasoline is an all-Illinois product that is made in Illinois, by Illinois workers using Illinois grain. Therefore, the Illinois Agriculture Department should do all it can to promote its use and thus help farmers, workers and the gasoline industries of Illinois."

Senate Bill 933, which Wolf supported in the House, requires the Department of Agriculture to set up a special division just to promote gasoline. Also, this division will promote wider use of Illinois grain by Midwest gasoline producers.

"In addition to being a boon for the Illinois economy, gasoline is a better fuel that runs cleaner with fewer pollutants and more power," Wolf said. "Given those attributes, we can be doing everything we can to increase the market for gasoline and give our economy a boost at the same time."

Passengers hurt on Nameoki Road

An accident involving three vehicles on Nameoki Road at 5:30 p.m. Monday, resulted in injuries to two passengers in a 1983 auto operated by Allen W. Harris, 28, of 3129 Wayne Ave.

Injured were Laura Harris, 22, of 3129 Wayne Ave., who declined medical attention, and Aileen Kelly, 32, of 3132 Ash Ave., who sustained a minor injury.

Reports said an auto driven by June E. VonGruenigen, age 75, of Lydia Lane, turning east into Garfield Avenue from the southbound lanes of Nameoki Road, was involved in the collision with the Harris vehicle, which was northbound on Nameoki.

Miss VonGruenigen's car continued on and collided with the 1972 pickup of Howard L. Dooker, 39, of 2148 Woodlawn Ave., which was halted on Garfield, preparing to turn north.

Pontoon Lions Candy Day Saturday

If you can read this in newsprint, you are lucky — 1.5 million Americans cannot read newsprint, even with glasses. About 700,000 Americans are legally blind, and 30,000 go blind annually.

If you can hear this on a radio or television broadcast, you are lucky — 1.8 million Americans are deaf; 105,000 of them in Illinois, and 13.4 million Americans have a hearing impairment, with 720,000 of those persons in Illinois.

Bobby Durbin, President of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club noted in urging public support for Candy Day, Saturday.

Because the gifts of sight and hearing are so precious and so irreplaceable, the 30,000 members of the more than 670 Lions Clubs in Illinois hold Candy Day each year to raise funds to support a variety of services for the blind and deaf and for the conservation of sight and hearing.

This year, the Lions Club of Pontoon Beach will participate in Candy Day, Saturday under the leadership of Sig Shedd, Candy Day chairman.

"We want to help people who already are blind or deaf, and we also want to work to save the sight and hearing of everyone in Illinois," the chairman said. Statewide, the Lions will be trying to top the million-dollar mark.

"It all depends on the hard work of the Lions and volunteers and on the generosity of the public," Shedd said. "We hope everyone will respond from his heart."

Illinois Lions have a long tradition of humanitarian service. Lionism, which began in Illinois in 1917, has grown to be the world's largest service organization. In Illinois alone, there are more than 30,000 Lions in more than 670 clubs, all with the motto, "We Serve."

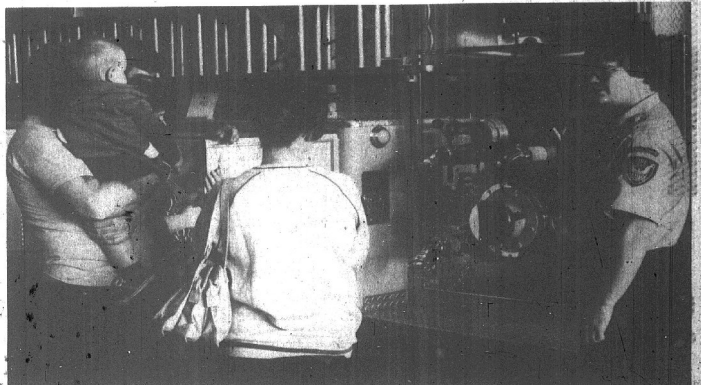

Lions have been involved in sight-related work from the start of Lionism. Efforts redoubled in 1925 when Helen Keller challenged the Lions to become "Knights For The Blind." Then, in 1952, Candy Day was born. In more recent years, hearing-related activities have been added to the services offered statewide by Lions.

All funds from Candy Day benefit the Local Lions Club communities. Clubs participating in Candy Day have the option of either retaining part of the funds for local projects for sight or hearing or contributing all proceeds through the Lions of Illinois Foundation, 1515 N. Harlem Ave., Oak Park, the charitable arm of the state's Lions Clubs. These statewide projects reach out into communities all over Illinois.

They include a mobile glaucoma unit, which screens adults for conditions including glaucoma, one of the leading causes of blindness; a mobile hearing unit; Camp Lions for children with severe vision or hearing impairments; the Lions Eye Donor Registry, to alleviate the shortage of eye tissue available for corneal transplants; a program of social services and referral to help find help for blind or deaf individuals; used eyeglasses collections to distribute eyeglasses to poverty areas world wide; a used hearing aid bank for Illinois residents and other programs. All Lions' programs and projects are provided free.

Restoring skyscraper ornaments

The SIUE Office of University Museums has received a $40,837 grant to be used in restoration of selected objects from the Louis Sullivan architectural ornament collection.

The grant was awarded by the Institute of Museum Services, a federal agency that provides program and operating support for the nation's museums.

SIUE's Office of University Museums was selected from 1,126 applications from museums in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Only 335 received awards.

The award, covering the 1984 fiscal year, will be administered by David C. Huntley, director of the Office of University Museums, who will serve as project director.

According to Huntley, "The grant will enable the museums staff to devote time and energies to one of the university's most prestigious collections, by providing means of repairing and restoring architectural ornaments by one of America's leading architects."

"The Sullivan ornament collection has long been recognized as a distinguished and important collection, since it contains many of the only remaining ornaments from Sullivan works."

"Sullivan, often referred to as the founder of the skyscraper," was the designer and partner in the firm of Sullivan and Adler, a firm that also employed the young Frank Lloyd Wright.

SIUE will join with the St. Louis Art Museum in the fall of 1985 to present a comprehensive exhibition of the works of Sullivan.

Many of the works to be restored by the grant funds will be seen in that exhibition and then placed on permanent view on the SIUE campus.

Girl Scout cookie sale opens Friday

When the Girl Scouts begin their annual cookie sale on Friday it will mark the 50th anniversary of this American tradition. The idea for the cookie sale was born back in the twenties when individual troops held cookie sales as fundraisers to support their activities. Word of the sales' success spread, and soon the number of participating troops grew. The first sale of commercially-baked cookies was held 50 years ago. That first year, the girls sold cookies based on the recipe of two troop leaders and baked in the shape of the Girl Scout insignia. This year, a special 50th anniversary cookie has been created to commemorate the event.

It will be sold along with six other varieties. The annual cookie sale is still the main fundraiser for this organization for girls between the ages of 6 and 17. Girl Scout cookies are the cookies that have made dreams come true for over 50 years. The very first Girl Scout cookie was a vanilla shortbread, baked in the shape of the Girl Scout insignia, the trofol. It's still a favorite, but over the years, a lot more cookies have been added to the selection. Like peanut butter do-dos, chocolate thin mints, tagalongs which are peanut butter patties and the famous Samoa cookies. Also, the newest pure chocolate chunk cookie.

Scout 'cookie crunch' scheduled for Sunday

The River Bluffs Girl Scout Council will sponsor a "Cookie Crunch" on Sunday, Oct. 16, between 2 and 4 p.m. at St. Clair Square. Thirty-six community people will be involved in this contest to see who can "crunch" (eat) the most Girl Scout cookies in 60 seconds. Mayors, leading women, business people, public officials, sports personalities and media representatives will be involved in this contest. Two deejays, Guy Phillips and Michael Wall from Radio station KYKY 98 FM will serve as emcees.

Young Girl Scouts will be cheerleaders for their favorite team, while older Girl Scouts will function as official scorekeepers. A band will play upbeat music and another troop of Girl Scouts will perform a double dutch demonstration adding to the day's festivities. Admission is free and Girl Scout cookies will be available for sampling, according to council officials.

VA awards contracts to computer hardware firms

In what amounts to be one of the largest single acquisitions of data processing equipment ever undertaken in the health care field, the Veterans Administration (VA) has awarded several contracts to computer hardware firms. The contracts are expected to cost $82 million over the next two fiscal years.

The VA computer acquisition will equip the agency's medical centers with more than 300 computers, 12,000 terminals, 6,000 printers and about 1,000 communication linking devices.

In announcing the awards, VA Chief Medical Director Donald L. Curtis, M.D., said the acquisitions will "address a critical need to automate clinical support and administrative functions in the nation's largest health care system."

Dr. Curtis noted the equipment will enable the VA to run computer programs developed by its field facilities supporting clinical laboratory functions, pharmacy activities, patient scheduling and patient admission-transfer-discharge processing.

Delivery of the equipment will begin in October with prototype installation and acceptance testing at one of the VA's Verification and Development Centers in Hines, Ill. Following the testing period, multiple, phased deliveries of the computer hardware will begin in the agency's medical centers across the country.

The VA system consists of 172 medical centers, 226 outpatient clinics, 93 nursing homes and 16 domiciliarys. The agency's medical budget of $7.7 billion this year will provide for 1.3 million hospital inpatient episodes and 18 million outpatient visits.

Rev. and Mrs. A.W. Davis

Golden anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. Davis

The Rev. and Mrs. A.W. Davis, 1142 Rhodes St., Madison, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a family gathering during the weekend.

They were united in marriage on Oct. 7, 1933, at the Tri-City Park, Tabernacle with the Rev. Nola West officiating.

Rev. Davis entered the ministry in 1932, and was ordained in the Assemblies of God in 1940. He founded the Edwardsville Assembly of God Church which he pastored from 1925 until 1944, and he also served as minister at State Park and Glen Carbon Assembly of God Churches.

The honorees have resided in the Quad-City area for 50 years.

They received many gifts and cards in honor of their anniversary. Special guests attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Leo (Theodore) Pyles, Carolyn Meadows and daughter, Kellie.

Teachers, parents, food service workers, custodians, members of the community, the speaker explained.

Mrs. Browning stated that the classroom must be a place in which children are taught the practical aspects of nutrition that will be useful in everyday life. Teaching good nutrition is vital to the health of all the children in this country and requires a team effort to be effective, she said.

Many children, she warned, are suffering from malnutrition because of improper dietary habits. This is a problem that must not continue.

In conclusion, Mrs. Browning quoted two Japanese adages, "Nothing is real to us except hunger," and "A master of education never taught a hungry child."

After Mrs. Browning's tough-provoking program, Dr. Hall introduced the recipient of the Kappa Delta Phi Scholarship, which is presented annually to the SIUE student who will complete his or her junior year in the fall, who has achieved a 4.5 grade point average or higher, who is in the College of Education, and who intends to pursue a career in education. The award was presented to Miss Linda Ross who accepted the monetary award and then thanked the members for their generosity and for their dedication to education at all levels.

Dr. Hall, Nancy Barnard, Betty Maloney, and Kria Magee were the officers who initiated the newest pledgee into the Lambda Theta Chapter of Kappa Delta Phi. Alberta Smart, Director of Curriculum and Special Programs in Jefferson County, Mo., Dunklin County High School District, received her pledge pin and was welcomed to the group.

The next meeting of the Chapter will be on Dec. 8, from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon at the USDA, Food Surplus Food, also is made available for school lunch programs.

Nutrition education was given the responsibility for setting up programs in the schools which would enable all children to have well-balanced, nutritional meals, using the surplus farm commodities.

Today the Federal Food and Nutrition service provides breakfast and lunch for all children who need them on a cost free or nominal cost basis. The schools are paid for all lunches by the USDA. Free surplus food, also is made available for school lunch programs.

Recent research has found that children who eat school lunches have healthier bodies than those who bring their lunches or those who go elsewhere for lunch.

The potential for living to be 130 to 140 years of age exists today, if one had the proper foods since infancy. Good nutrition can extend life and help people avoid diseases in the next century, when the cost of hospitalization is expected to be as high as $2,000 to $3,000 a day.

Nutrition education is as important as teaching parenting. All facets of education must be involved in teaching children the importance of good nutrition - administrators, school board members, principals,

It's official! Warriors voted in Southwestern

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

COLLINSVILLE — A nine-year absence, Granite City High School has realigned itself with one of the premier athletic conferences in Illinois, the Southwestern Conference.

Wednesday afternoon, at a luncheon meeting at Ruston's Restaurant called specifically to vote on Granite City's inclusion, Southwestern Conference officials unanimously approved Granite City's realignment into the conference.

Effective July 1, 1984, the Warriors will become the sixth high school affiliated with the Southwestern Conference. Collinsville, Alton, Belleville East and West and East St. Louis Senior are current SWC members. The Warriors will begin competition as a SWC member in September 1984.

Unlike most new Southwestern Conference members, Granite City becomes a new member without having to undergo a two-year probationary period. A clause in the SWC constitution stipulates a probationary period for all new members.

Granite City, however, because of its former affiliation with the conference, SWC officials amended its constitution so Granite City could be admitted without probation.

"Due to Granite City's long association with the conference," said Jerry Turner, president of the SWC, "we decided to waive the probationary period. Granite City becomes a full-fledged member in July."

Although the probationary period would not affect Granite City's participation on the playing field, it would deny Granite City's two SWC representatives, athletic director Roger Smith and Gilbert Walmsley voting SWC privileges.

"They've (Southwestern officials) made us feel like we're coming back home," Walmsley said. "They've treated us unbelievably nice. We couldn't be happier."

The Warriors left the Southwestern Conference in June 1975, after the 1974-75 season and two years after the formation of its sister school Granite City North in 1973. Although not an official member of the SWC and an independent for the next two years, the Warriors continued to play SWC teams regularly until the 1979-80 school year, the first year of the Gateway East Conference.

Granite City High School sought the realignment with the SWC last year after Granite City District 9 members announced the consolidation of Granite City's two high schools. Granite City's realignment with the SWC will effectively end a five-year conference relationship with the Gateway East Conference.

Although other GEC members — Edwardsville, Belleville, Alton and Cahokia — have been invited by SWC officials to join the conference, thus far only Granite City has accepted.

In other action, SWC officials briefly discussed the application for membership by East St. Louis Lincoln High School but was tabled for further discussion.

Athletes eye NCAA soccer title now and in future

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

Randy DeRousse is at the climax of his career at Eastern Illinois University this season. He's feeling the best he's ever felt. He's playing the best he's ever played.

But there's one more thing that DeRousse wants to do before he leaves Eastern — making the NCAA finals one more time.

Of course, there's the matter of pride. DeRousse played for the 1981 Eastern team which finished third in the NCAA Division I soccer tournament. Since the Panthers failed to reach the final four last year despite losing only two starters from that team, DeRousse really wants to be in the finals this year.

But, there are other considerations as well. DeRousse, along with fellow seniors Aldo Esposito, Eric Hartman, Damien Kelly and Aysman Premph, has a chance to make a professional soccer team.

DeRousse, drafted by the New York Cosmos after a successful high school career at Granite City South, feels his chances would be better if Eastern made the finals this year.

"All five of us have excellent chances of being drafted in indoor or outdoor soccer," and our chances of being drafted would be better if made the finals this year. Our first goal this year is not to get cocky like we did last year so we can make the finals," DeRousse said.

DeRousse, as a defensive back for the Panthers, has been the anchor of the defense this season, a defense which has only given up three goals in 10 games this season.

"I'm in the best shape I've ever been in," DeRousse said. "We worked out in Colorado during the preseason, and I think working in the thinner atmosphere helped up when we came back. We've been flying high ever since then."

DeRousse, a physical education major, admits none of the Panthers' opponents so far have been powerhouses.

but he figures Eastern will be able to play with teams like North Texas State and St. Louis University.

"This has been my best year ever," DeRousse said. "I hope we can continue to do well the rest of the season and make the playoffs. Then I hope I can get drafted."

Western Illinois University is having a youth movement this season, and five Granite City athletes are having a hand in the movement.

The movement is working. The

"We're just trying to get used to college soccer now. We're going to make some mistakes, but we're going to get better."

John Menendez
WIU soccer player

Leathernecks upset perennial soccer powerhouse Southern Illinois University 1-0 in a first round game of the Governor's Cup soccer tournament but lost to Eastern 4-0 in the title game.

John Menendez, a freshman midfielder from Granite City South, had the assist on the Western goal in the win over the Cougars. Menendez has one goal and two assists this season for the Leathernecks.

Scott Grote and Tony Segobiano have also made their marks as starters in the defense, backfield. Although neither have goals nor assists, they are starting to get the hand of college soccer.

"We're just trying to get used to college soccer," Menendez said. "We're going to make some mistakes, but we're going to get better."

Segobiano, on the other hand, is more confident of his team's potential. "People are going to know us for the next few years as a national power, mark my words," he said.

Brian Levin, a freshman midfielder and a Granite City North graduate, hadn't seen much playing time prior to the Governor's Cup, but Western Coach ment. Eastern did not score while Branding was at goal.

The big thrill for the Western players was beating SIUE, and Grote said, "With only two seniors, we played a high caliber team well. We beat the big St. Louis guns, and all of the Granite players were up for that one."

Both SIUE and Steve Trittschuh, a freshman back from Granite City North, have struggled this season. SIUE, with a 4-5-2 record, are on the brink of being eliminated from consideration for the NCAA playoffs.

Meanwhile, Trittschuh started the first three games for the Cougars but lost his starting position after the Clemson game to John Gates, a freshman from CBC. Trittschuh has one goal and two assists this year.

"I'm wanting to get back in the starting lineup again. The team is having its ups and downs. I think I'm going to get back in there sometime this year," Trittschuh said.

As for the team, Trittschuh said, "We're not getting much offense. We're getting the ball down there, but we can't finish it off."

They travel to the Belle-Claire Fairgrounds to take on members of the Belleville Boxing Club. Slated for action are MHC's Mendoza, Chip Hagnauer and Steve Gancheff.

Mendoza is slated to meet members of the Prisoner's Boxing Club of Chester. Action begins at 8 p.m.

Trojanettes trounce Alton Marquette

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

MADISON — The Madison Trojanettes volleyball team, playing one of their best matches of the season, soundly defeated the Explorers of Marquette Tuesday night by the scores of 15-4, 15-8.

Kathy Zabotka got the scoring started for the Trojanettes in the first game. With the score 1-0, Madison and Marquette combined to miss their next seven serves.

Robyn Harris was the next to score, serving her team to a 4-0 lead. Harris was aided by an excellent spike from Carol Zarr.

Again a missed serve lost the ball for the Trojanettes, but it was quickly returned as the Explorers also missed their serve.

Madison upped their lead to 5-0 before Marquette got on the scoreboard. The Trojanettes continued to score at will, with Zarr finishing off the game with four straight serves for points. Abigail Heard also helped out with an important spike.

In the second game, Marquette came out smoking. Tammy Lewis, of the Explorers, served three straight points to give her team the lead 3-0.

With a spike from Harris, the Trojanettes finally got on the scoreboard.

Harris then served up four points to put her team in the lead 6-3.

Another missed serve by Marquette opened the doors for Madison. Stephanie Walker served five points, including three ace serves, to put her team on top to stay.

Marquette tried to make a comeback, but strong spiking and sound defensive blocking by Madison crushed their chances.

Trojanette, Stephanie Walker, ended the game by pouncing a cross-court spike that proved to be a fitting conclusion for Madison's victory.

"I'm glad Stephanie ended the game the way she did," stated Coach Carol. "The two spikes she just missed earlier helped us out by keeping the Marquette girls off guard. I'm glad she could finish the game with such a good spike."

Coach Cole was pleased with her team's overall performance after the game.

"Carol Zarr had a beautiful game. She knows most of the girls on the Marquette team and she was really up for this game."

MHC boxer wins first St. Louis fight

Dave Wilson, a newcomer to Mexican Honorary Commission's Boxing Club, picked up his first victory last Saturday in competition in St. Louis.

Wilson, a 180-pound novice boxer, managed a third round TKO over Nick Mazella of the ABC Boxing Club in St. Louis. The technical putdown came after Wilson tagged Mazella with a second standing eight count of the third round.

Wilson's TKO was a turn around of the previous round when Mazella scored a standing eight count on Wilson.

"It was really a slugfest," said Merce Mendoza, MHC coach. "Dave punched well and showed a lot of aggressiveness."

Danny Mendoza, the other MHC boxer slated to fight, did not because his opponent forfeited.

The club will next see action on Tuesday, Oct. 25, as they travel to the Belle-Claire Fairgrounds to take on members of the Belleville Boxing Club. Slated for action are MHC's Mendoza, Chip Hagnauer and Steve Gancheff.

Mendoza is slated to meet members of the Prisoner's Boxing Club of Chester. Action begins at 8 p.m.

Warrior tennis team on a hot streak

In first singles, Lombardi bowled over Jean Berry 6-2, 6-0, while Ousley zipped past Annette Hoffman by the same score in second singles.

In third singles, Pinkston didn't give an inch as she relentlessly battered Bonnie Kunkle 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles competition, the Parra and Schwartz duo yielded to games in the opening set, but blanked Lisa Jancke and Jennifer Matthews in the second set to win 6-2, 6-0.

In the final match of the afternoon, Suess and Smolar teamed up to romp Susan Wren and Laura Biel 6-1, 6-2.

The Warriors now begin preparation for sectional competition next Friday, Oct. 21, at Highland High School. The Warriors are one of 12 teams in the sectional.

Tired soccer Stars fail to Flo Valley Norsemen

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

FLORISSANT — Playing Meramec and Florissant Valley each twice in one season is a tough enough task for any junior college soccer team.

But when you have to play the two teams on two consecutive days, it gets very rough. When you play one of those games without the only goalkeeper on the roster, it gets even rougher. Just ask the Stars of Granite City Center.

Although Meramec defeated the Stars 1-0 Tuesday, sophomore Rich Sharp, a reserve forward for the Stars, replaced Lemaster at goal and made 12 saves. Taking advantage of a tired and sore Granite City team, Florissant Valley defeated the Stars 7-1 Wednesday. Both Midwest Junior College Athletic Association games were played in Florissant.

"The fact we played a close game the day before can't be an excuse for not playing well the next day," GOC Coach Larry Petri said. "You have to respond when you have the opportunities. If you're going to go anywhere, you have to be able to play two tough teams in a row."

The loss of Lemaster, who was suspended for one MJCAA game because he was ejected from the Stars' 1-0 victory over Forest Park, didn't affect GOC as much as one would expect. Sharp, who played a few minutes in goal against Lincoln Land, came through with the saves.

"Sharp did a very good job considering he hadn't played that much in goal. The one goal which went in wasn't really his fault. He made some exceptional saves on Meramec."

The one shot Sharp didn't save was a hard-hit head ball by Paul Denning in the first half. Meramec's Joe Brunette set up the shot with a cross pass high in the air.

After the goal, the Stars tightened up and helped Sharp out. Meanwhile, the Stars missed several opportunities to score. Granite City made only two shots on goal despite their opportunities.

"We may have been a little too far up after our win over Forest Park and we couldn't take advantage of the opportunities they gave us. We played hard," Petri said.

The same couldn't be said of the Stars against Flo Valley, one of the top junior college soccer teams in the nation this year. The Norsemen gave GOC few opportunities to score, and the Norsemen played apart the Stars' defense seven times.

"Flo Valley came out to play and we didn't," Petri said. "They are a good team, and when you don't execute against a good team, they are going to burn you. You have to go all out against a team like them."

Lemaster, who returned to the team after the suspension, was brutally greeted by the Norsemen, who took 13 shots on goal. Lemaster was also unlucky.

A case in point. The first goal, a low shot by Jeff Robinson from 12 yards out, appeared to be an easy save for Lemaster. Instead, the low shot deflected out of Lemaster's hands and rolled into the goal at 5:54.

Norseman forward Terry Brown took over after the initial goal. Brown pulled off the hat trick with two unassisted goals. Brown's first goal came at 17:51 off a cross pass from Dennis Kieley.

At 29:30, Brown fired a shot at Lemaster. However, Lemaster couldn't catch the ball for the save, and Brown had his second goal. Brown's third goal came at 56:13.

Granite City's lone goal came off a penalty kick by Jim Doyle. Star forward Benny Nolan was driving down the middle for a breakaway shot, but Nolan was shoved in the penalty area.

Doyle then kicked the ball to his right for the goal.

Tim Mahoney closed the first half with an unassisted goal which bounced off the bottom of the goal crossbar for the goal. Larry Michelson and Robinson scored the other two goals for the Norsemen. Robinson's goal came with five seconds left in the game.

The Stars missed two good opportunities to score. Midway through the first half, Nolan and GOC forward Tim Dean combined for a breakaway. However, Nolan's shot was a foot wide to the left of the goal.

With 12:40 left in the game, Sharp had three shots on goal. The first two shots bounced off the right goalpost, and the third shot ended up in the hands of Flo Valley goalkeeper Tom Unger.

"We have to put this game into our memory banks and correct our mistakes from there," Petri said. "We have a couple of tough games this weekend, and we have to come back for them."

The Stars, 8-5 this season and 1-5 in the MJCAA, host Harper Friday in a 4 p.m. game, and DuPage Saturday in a 2 p.m. game. Both Harper and DuPage are from the Chicago area.

Warriors dominate county harrier meet

EDWARDSVILLE — The Granite City High School harriers missed a clean sweep of the annual Madison County Cross Country Meet Tuesday afternoon by two points.

Both the Warriors boys' freshmen-sophomore and varsity squads were victorious, but the girls' squad fell short of neighboring Collinsville by one point, 31-32.

"We had hopes of winning all three meets," explained Warrior Coach Pete Robinson. "We had one of our stronger girls, Kim Ames, sit out because she wasn't feeling well, but I still thought we could've won it. A sweep would have been nice, but we did alright."

The biggest victory of the day was that of boys' varsity competitor Jim Robertson. Granite City's top distance runner, set a new course record on the hilly, three-mile Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville course. Robertson finished the course in 15:27.

Second across the finish line for the Warriors was Darren Bernaix, who finished sixth at 16:57. Keith Bono was 19th at 17:06, followed by Ken Kalka and Todd Scram who finished 15th and 16th respectively at 17:27 and 17:28.

Paul Miskell was the seventh and final Warrior to cross the finish line at 18:20. Miskell finished 28th.

In the girls' competition, Collinsville's all-star Pam Quarenghi outdistanced the Warriors' Lora Wiser by 14 seconds to take the top honors.

Quarenghi crossed the finish line at 12:06.

"Lora's there," Robinson said. "She's there knocking at the door. If the cat stays that close to Pam she shouldn't have any problem getting out of the sectionals."

Sheila Noel and Michelle Shoemaker were the second and third Warrior girls to cross the finish line. Noel finished the two-mile course in 12:54 and Shoemaker finished in 12:57.

Following the Warriors' top three, the final four harriers — Angie Grabowski, Julie Hoffman, Fay Patton and Dawn Young — finished 12th through 15th.

Grabowski was 12th, 14:15; Hoffman was three seconds behind at 14:18; Patton was 14th at 14:20 and Young was 15th at 14:23.

In freshmen-sophomore competition, Granite City edged Highland by 34 places to easily win that division.

The Warriors swept the first three places as Todd Isom, Charlie Porter and Derrick Drumstra finished first, second and third respectively. Isom clocked in at 17:23, Porter at 17:43 and Drumstra at 18:05.

Steve Houston finished seventh at 18:22. Mike Charbonneau was 12th at 18:36. Gary Crone was 13th at 18:40 while Bob Shaw finished at 18:49.

The Warrior boys do not run again until the Edwardsville Regional on Oct. 29. The first four teams — of which the Warriors are almost assured a spot — will compete in the Springfield-Lanier Sectional on Nov. 5.

The state championships once again will be held at Detweller Park in Peoria. The top five teams and top seven runners not members of those teams will advance from the sectional to the state finale.

The Warrior girls have just one more matchup, Tuesday, Oct. 18, against Mascoutah in Mascoutah.

"I've tried to arrange their schedule so the final two weeks we don't break ourselves down. A lot of coaches don't realize that these are just high school kids," Robinson said. "We want everyone healthy when the regionals and sectionals swing around."

Last Saturday at the Jacksonville Invitational, the Warriors won both the boys' and the girls' titles. The boys edged Macomb by two places 9-11, but the girls' victory was much more decisive — 44 places in front of second place Mascoutah.

In the Warrior boys' race, which pitted each team's best against the others and second best against the others second best and so on, Granite City finished either first or second in each of the seven races. The end result was a decisive win for the Warrior boys.

"I'm real proud of everyone," Warrior Coach Pete Robinson said. "They all went out there and competed real hard. Right now many of them are running their personal bests."

With virtually all his athletes running their fastest times of the season Robinson couldn't be happier. But, despite his team's achievement, he won't be at ease until the weekend of the regional, Oct. 29.

"We're doing everything right now. What concerns me most now is keeping everyone healthy — avoiding bronchitis, colds, sniffing, aching muscles and the like," Robinson said. "If we

GCHS runs away with harrier title

JACKSONVILLE — With regional competition just two weeks away, the Granite City High School cross country team couldn't be peaking at a better time.

Last Saturday at the Jacksonville Invitational, the Warriors won both the boys' and the girls' titles. The boys edged Macomb by two places 9-11, but the girls' victory was much more decisive — 44 places in front of second place Mascoutah.

In the Warrior boys' race, which pitted each team's best against the others and second best against the others second best and so on, Granite City finished either first or second in each of the seven races. The end result was a decisive win for the Warrior boys.

With virtually all his athletes running their fastest times of the season Robinson couldn't be happier. But, despite his team's achievement, he won't be at ease until the weekend of the regional, Oct. 29.

"We're doing everything right now. What concerns me most now is keeping everyone healthy — avoiding bronchitis, colds, sniffing, aching muscles and the like," Robinson said. "If we stay healthy we could really do well."

Saturday's victory accomplished two things for the Warriors. First it provided them with another opportunity to run against some stiff competition before the regional and secondly, it allowed the boys to run their own race — give them the opportunity to work on their pace — rather than run in a pack.

Although the "pack theory" is an important part of improving an athlete's time, Robinson thinks that "running solo" also has its benefits.

"With this kind of race it allows each kid to run his own race. We're working on getting everyone in under 16 (minutes for a three-mile race). If we keep it up, we may accomplish that," Robinson said.

Saturday all but two of Granite City's seven boys finished their respective races under 16 minutes. The two who didn't, Kenny Kalka and Charlie Porter, finished second in their races and are within 30 seconds of breaking the 16-minute mark.

Jim Robertson, the Warriors' first athlete, finished the three-mile course at the Jacksonville State Mental Facility in 14:33 for a first place finish.

Jeff Hoese, running second for the Warriors, posted a second-place victory at 15:31.

Todd Isom picked up another first place for the Warriors in the third race by finishing ahead of all other competition at 16:09.

In the fourth race, Keith Bono finished second in 15:36 to capture the Warriors' third first place finish in four races.

In the fifth and sixth races, Darren Bernaix and Keith Kalka finished first and second respectively with times of 15:43 and 16:09.

In the seventh race, Charlie Porter sealed the Warrior victory with a second place finish. The final Warrior crossed the finish line in 16:28.

In the girls' competition, it became apparent early that the Warrior squad was going to emerge victorious.

Granite City's Lora Wiser won the competition with a time of 11:14. After Wiser, Warrior girls crossed the finish line at intervals of two through seventh place.

Michelle Shoemaker finished third at 11:48; Sheila Noel was fifth at 12:02 and Kim Ames was seventh at 12:12. At that point, a Warrior victory was almost guaranteed.

For good measure, Angie Grabowski finished 12th at 12:38. Dawn Young was 17th at 13:07 while Julie Hoffman was 18th at 13:11.

SIUE hosts NCAA cross country meet

EDWARDSVILLE — The three-time defending men's champions from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and the Lady Redbirds of Illinois State University will put their 1982 Illinois State Cross Country Championships on the line Saturday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville where the 1983 Men's, and Women's Illinois Collegiate Cross Country Championships. The meet, which is scheduled to get underway with the 5,000-meter women's run at noon, will conclude with the 10,000-meter men's championships at 12:30 p.m.

Hoping to dethrone Illinois State as its women's championship will be last year's runners-up from Western Illinois University, Eastern Illinois University, Bradley University, Northwestern University and SIUC. The women's event is expected to attract nine teams this year.

Last year, the Redbirds captured five of the top nine positions and returned four of those five letter-winners.

On the men's side, the only three teams ever to win the state crown, SIUE, Illinois State and the University of Illinois appear to be the leading candidates to claim the 1983 title.

Warriors down Kahoks, begin post season

The Granite City High School golf team finished its regular season on a strong note Wednesday afternoon as the Warriors handily defeated Collinsville 156-189.

The victory was Granite City's 15th of the 25 match season.

Today the Warriors travel to Tamarack Golf Course in O'Fallon as they begin post-season play in the O'Fallon Regional. Play began at 9 a.m.

Although the Warriors are not among the teams to be considered to win the regional, Warrior coach Russ Chappell thinks his team does have a chance to advance to the Edwardsville Sectional next week.

"I think right now we'd have to be considered a dark horse to win, but we've been close to Edwardsville all year," Chappell said. "If we can stay close, we may have a chance."

The Warriors take six athletes — Jeff Pare, Randy Thurman, John Tackett, Chris Carden, Frank Hayes and Mike Sturman — to the regional.

Illinois High School Association guidelines stipulate that the top three teams and the top 10 golfers not members of those teams advance to sectional competition.

Earlier in the week, on Tuesday, the Warriors lost a close match to Mascoutah 162-165. Despite the varsity loss, there was good news from the jayvee team. The Warriors juniors defeated Mascoutah 185-211.

Gators blank Bethalto gridders

The Grigsby Junior High School football team evened its record at 2-2 Wednesday afternoon with a 13-0 victory over Bethalto.

In the first quarter, it was the Gator's defense which came to the occasion. Clay McCollegan intercepted a Bethalto pass and dashed 50 yards for the touchdown to give the Gators a 6-0 lead.

In the third quarter, the Gators once again used the big play to pad its lead as Monte Osborn took the pass reception from Kevin Sutherland 40 yards for its second TD. Mike Lane added to the Gator's lead by kicking the PAT.

Grigsby Coach John Sikora said although his Gators played well, several of their drives were halted by untimely penalties. "We played outstanding defense. In particular, Scott Moss and Tom Johnson played well," Sikora said. Both are cornerbacks for the Gators.

The Gators will close their season next Wednesday as they meet cross-town rival Coolidge at the Granite City High School Football Field. Play begins at 4 p.m.

Coolidge ties Roxana gridders

The Coolidge Junior High School football team and the Roxana Junior High squad battled to a 28-28 tie last night at the Granite City High School Football field.

Roxana broke on top 6-0 just four minutes into the first quarter. The Braves managed to tie the game in the second quarter at 6-6 as Terry Stanley scored on a 30-yard reverse. The ensuing kick was wide.

Tied, Roxana went back on top with just more than three minutes remaining in the half. Just when it appeared that Roxana was going to end the half with a six-point lead, the Braves Stanley returned the kickoff 70 yards for a touchdown. The halftime score was 12-12.

After a scoreless second half, Roxana went to the air in the overtime period. At fourth and 10, Roxana passed for the TD. The two-point conversion put the visitors on top 20-12.

The Braves also went to the air. On the second play in the series, Dan Hutchings caught Stanley's pass for the second touchdown. Stanley's equalizing two-point conversion tied the score at 20-20.

Roxana went back on top on its second possession in overtime. The TD and the two-point conversion gave Roxana an eight-point lead again.

As the sun began to drop below the horizon, so appeared the Braves hopes of victory. At fourth and four, Hutchings found the endzone to move within two. Stanley rushed in for the two-point conversion to tie the game. The Braves 3-0-1 on the season, meet Grigsby next Wednesday in the final game of the season.

Religious programs and events at area churches

Peacemaking leader will speak

Sherry Phillips of Wichita, Kan., who took part in a peacemaking leadership seminar in Soviet Union and Hungary, will share her experiences Oct. 20 at Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road.

The public is being invited to attend the speech, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Other churches participating in the event are First Presbyterian Church of Granite City, Mitchell Presbyterian Church, Bethalto Presbyterian Church and Zion and Salem Presbyterian churches in Alton.

This will be one of 12 appearances Mrs. Phillips will make next week as she visits the St. Louis area as the guest of Elijah Parish Lovejoy Presbytery.

In 1962, Mrs. Phillips was one of nine Americans selected to travel to England to talk with British and Soviet mothers about their concerns for the future of their children.

In May, she attended a seminar at the invitation of the Russian Orthodox Church at the Reformed Church of Hungary. The topic was "Discovering Our Oneness." Those attending were selected on the basis of their work in peacemaking at the local, regional and national levels of the Presbyterian Church.

"This trip was a spiritual experience in many ways," Mrs. Phillips said of the Russian visit. "There is a great lack of information about our respective countries. The church is alive and well in the Soviet Union, despite 20 years of the Communist government trying to kill it."

"There is too much misinformation that gets in the way of our dialogue. We must continue to seek and find opportunities for exchange and conversations between our countries," she stated. "Otherwise, the whole world will continue to suffer from our disagreements."

Her slide show will focus

SHERRY PHILLIPS
On Soviet Union

on the individual Russian and Hungarian people she met, their hopes and fears for peace and their joy in meeting the group of Americans.

Refreshments will be served following the program.

Local gospel quartet to mark anniversary

The Chapelaires Quartet will be celebrating their 25th anniversary Saturday, Oct. 15, at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave.

An anniversary concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will also feature Finis Barr and the Calvary Singers and Roy Boyer and Jim Cockran.

The concert is admission-free and is open to the public, according to the announcement.

Charles Adams, manager and tenor singer, started the gospel singing group in the fall of 1958. The original members included Adams, Lynn Nichols, Dean Monk and his wife Betty.

Although the personnel has changed through the years, the gospel message in song has not. The current members are Adams, his son Chuck and grandson, Vince, Carla Pulliam, Ken Jones, Carl Holm, Todd Jones and Ken Weaver.

The quartet travels some 25,000 miles per year, has recorded numerous long play albums, made several television appearances and hosted a weekly radio broadcast, the spokesmen added.

Nazarenes to observe 75 years

Two local Nazarene churches will celebrate the international 75th anniversary of the Pentecostal Church of the Nazarene.

Both the St. Paul Church of the Nazarene, 4301 Maryville Road, and the First Church of the Nazarene on Highway 12, in Pontoon Beach, will give Diamond Jubilee Keopse certificates to those attending their separate 10:30 a.m. Sunday services marking the event.

A joint service will be conducted by the two churches at 6 p.m. Sunday at St. Paul's Church. The Chapelaires will present at concert at the service.

On Oct. 23, members of both congregations are being urged to wear early 1900s apparel. Prizes will be awarded.

St. Paul's was started here in 1962 and is pastored by the Rev. Jerry Harris. The First Church of the Nazarene was begun in 1931 and is pastored by the Rev. William Roddy.

The first Church of the Nazarene was begun with a tent service conducted Oct. 13, 1908, in Pilot Point, Texas. The church currently has 706,811 members with more than one million attending Sunday schools in 74 countries.

The church has 9,385 ordained ministers, 3,667 ministers who are licensed and 550 persons who are serving as missionaries.

Its assets are more than $1.7 billion with liabilities of $219 million.

The public is being invited to attend the anniversary events. Those interested in further information may call 931-2294 or 931-5520.

St. John Lutheran dinner and bazaar

The annual ham and bean dinner and holiday bazaar, under the auspices of the Quilting and Guild members of St. John Lutheran Church will be held on Saturday, Oct. 15, in the church fellowship hall.

Members of the congregation and the public is invited to attend the event from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. The dinner menu includes ham and beans, salad, cornbread, dessert and a drink. Sloppy Joe sandwiches will also be available, according to the announcement.

Cost of the dinner tickets, which are available at the door, will be $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children to age 12.

A varied assortment of handmade crafts and Christmas items, plants, baked goods and white elephant items will be on display and offered for sale, the chairman added.

Matthew 26:20-21
"Now when the even was come, he sat down with the twelve. And as they did eat, he said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me."

Could one of the twelve disciples betray Christ? Could one who was called and commissioned to preach the Gospel, heal the sick, and cast out devils really do such a thing? It is hard to imagine being that close to the Saviour and then betraying Him. But, it did happen.

It is just as amazing today to see the countless ways that God has blessed our Nation and its people, and then see the many ways that we betray His goodness.

God only asks that we seek the Kingdom of God and its righteousness first and then He will bless us with all that we need.

The way back to forgiveness is the way of repentance. We need only say, "God, I'm sorry."

Will you say it today?

Rachel Circle has pray program

It was announced that Nov. 4 will be World Community Day and will be conducted at Trinity Methodist Church at 7:15 p.m. The theme, "No Longer Strangers," was written by Australian women.

The Niedringhaus Church Mission Saturation program will be conducted Nov. 5 to 10, it was announced. The Rev. Marel will speak at both services Nov. 6.

The "World Thank" offering will be given to members and be collected this month at today's general meeting, when the Rachel Circle was to act as host.

The annual church bazaar will be conducted Oct. 21 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tickets for the luncheon will be $3. Handmade items such as

Coronary Club helps victims of heart diseases to adjust

By DEBORAH WILLIAMS
St. Elizabeth
Medical Center

"What has happened to my heart?" "Will I live?" "Can I go back to work and do the things I like to do?" "Why me?"

These are the most common questions asked by patients who have just undergone some form of heart disease.

To help these people cope with the stresses of everyday life and to keep them updated on the newest research being done, St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City has formed the Coronary Club.

Open to anyone interested in learning more about heart disease, the Coronary Club meets the third Wednesday of each month in the Wiesman Room at 7 p.m.

"The purpose of the club is to help people understand the personal risks of heart disease," said Val Buder, assistant supervisor and club representative.

"It also serves as a resource to heart patients, their relatives and other interested professionals, and provides education and supportive socialization for persons diagnosed with coronary artery disease."

Topics of discussion include relaxation therapy, weight reduction, drugs to control heart disease, stress management, diet, feelings and new research.

As a member of the Coronary Club, individuals are entitled to free membership, refreshments, parking privileges and transportation to meetings.

At the next meeting of the Coronary Club, which will be on Wednesday, Oct. 19, Pat Sutton, an SEMC social worker, will discuss causes of individual stress with members.

For more information or to arrange for transportation to meetings, interested persons may contact Val Buder or Vicki Young at 796-3456 or 796-3301.

Guilds hold joint meeting

The Evening Guild of St. John United Church of Christ met with the Evening Guild of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, for their October session, at St. Peter's Church.

Devotions were led by Dorothy Kinney of St. Peter's on "Christmas Cards You Never Sent" and the program on "Community Ministry" was presented by Annellen Smith, also of the host church.

After the program the two organizations held separate business meetings. Mrs. Thelma Stuess installed new officers of St. John Guild including Linda Sturman, president, Doris Larway, vice-president, Ruth Squires, treasurer and Dolores Gaines, secretary.

A guest, Linda Hassel, became a member during the meeting and was introduced followed by all honoring Dorothy Johanne on her birthday.

The president extended appreciation to all who worked on the apple butter day project and to those for cleaning the kitchen. She also noted the annual Bazaar and Sausage Dinner will be held on Oct. 16 and the group will co-sponsor a rummage sale the first week of November with the Afternoon Guild of St. John's.

A donation will be given to Protestant Welfare and four blankets are to be given to the Church Women United blanket drive.

The Hitz Home in Alhambra will host a Cookbook Tea on Dec. 18 to promote the sale of cookbooks compiled by the residents.

After the business discussions both guilds gathered in the Fellowship Hall for the Least Coin Devotion and enjoyed a social hour and refreshments.

Sarah Circle meets at church

The Sarah Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met at the church for its monthly meeting and were given names of missionaries to offer prayers for during the month.

Refreshments were served prior to the meeting by Thelma Demons and Ella Ray Smith. Mary Ahlvers, circle leader, gave the blessing.

Mrs. Ahlvers reminded the group of the general meeting of the Women's Society to be held tonight in Wesley Hall. Mrs. Clara Sotiroff gave the Least Coin lesson.

The leader asked for volunteers to serve as officers for the Women's Society and Mrs. Laverne Chapman agreed to serve as vice-president.

Circle members made 36 sick calls during the month. Mrs. Ahlvers noted. She also announced there will be a retreat at Our Lady of the Sacred Heart on Nov. 28-29 at a cost of $28 per person.

The Rev. Marvell will conduct a mission meeting to be known as Saturation Program at the church on Nov. 5-10. There will be a potluck dinner on Sunday, Nov. 6, after services. It was noted.

A missionary will be in charge of the program at the general Women's Society Nov. 10th meeting, the leader added.

Mrs. Delores Vogeler gave a book review on "Grandmothers, Congratulations, You are Going to Be A Grandmother," by Lanie Carter.

The session closed with the circle prayer.

Mrs. Fischer circle hosts

Ruth Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met last week in the home of Mrs. Goldie Fischer for its monthly session and to complete final plans for the annual church bazaar.

Mrs. Mary Miller served as the co-hostess.

The holiday project is set for Oct. 21 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and will also feature a luncheon, it was announced. Also, the general meeting of the United Methodist Women will be conducted tonight.

Mrs. Joanne Kraus presented the lesson taken from the book "God's Psychiatry on the Twenty-Third Psalm, and Mrs. Dorothy Whitmer offered the meditation on "Partnership."

Prayer lists of missionaries were distributed to each member so they can select a particular missionary to pray for during the month.

Others present were, Mesdames Dorothy Allen, Lethia Gitchoff, Gladys Potillo, Marie Klein, Geneva Miller, Lois Lester, Esther Taylor, Clara Huber, Ida Cariss, Sharon Shaffer, Dolores Allen, and Lorrell Jennings.

CONDUCT CHARGE

After he allegedly yelled and used obscene language toward a police officer during the weekend at Weaver and Douglas streets in Venice, Raymond J. Parke, 22, of 143 Viola Jones Homes, Venice, was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. He was released after posting a $32 cash bond.

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP. The Rev. Don Pierson, of Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, watches from the church roof as the cross is put in place on top the new steeple installed last week on the church. The steeple of the church was destroyed by the May 1 tornado, which damaged scores of homes and businesses. The church roof also was extensively damaged by the tornado. A worker for Campbells Industries of Campbellsville, Ky., manufacturer of the steeple, puts the new cross in place.

OXYGEN CONCENTRATORS

Oxygen concentrators, originally released to the market in 1974, offer a completely new concept in providing supplementary oxygen. Concentrators achieve high oxygen levels by capturing room air, removing the other major components of atmospheric gas through a process similar to the other major components of atmospheric gas through a process similar to filtration and delivering this oxygen to the patient. These units provide high concentration oxygen (up to 95%) quickly and continuously. Concentrators operate from standard household power and require no refilling or recharging, eliminating the need for routine delivery. Concentrators are quiet, simple to operate, and blend into the normal home furnishings and decor.

Student-built residence is ready, another under way

Need a new home? The Granite City school district hopes to sell the latest residence constructed by building trades classes. But it is finding the task more difficult than usual due to the economic recession.

The Board of Education decided last week to seek bids from Realtors on the percentage of sales commission. The low bidder is to be granted exclusive right to sell the newly-completed house.

In the meantime, those associated with the multiple listing service will continue to offer the home and, with the right offer, could resolve the issue without advertising. The present commission is six percent, Supt. B.J. Davis said.

The Board of Education has set the price of the structure at $84,900 but possibly would be willing to give attention to a lesser offer.

Thomas C. Holloway, director of vocational and career education, said the building trades home has been listed for 120 days, with no firm offer received.

"In the past, the Realtors picked up on the house and pushed for its sale, even to the point of advertising it, but this has not happened this year," he said.

Supt. Davis obtained board approval for financing similar to that utilized for the most recent student-built residence.

Under such an arrangement, the buyer pays the district for several years to build up equity and then obtains a conventional mortgage.

With work starting on still another building, trades home, the board considered the bids received on framing, lumber and related materials.

Bids totaling $3,190 were accepted, including $1,876 for items from Great Central Lumber, $487 White Lumber, $277 Cain, $141 Illinois Lumber, $124 Fischer, $45 Duffin and $10,000.

Amos Heating, Cooling and Weber Service were designated as sources of refrigeration service work to supplement the school district's refrigeration maintenance man.

The district has a 75-ton conditioner for the Granite City High School auditorium and a 290-ton chilled-water air-conditioner for Grigsby Junior High.

Permission was given for the city to enter Wilson School grounds from Wilson Avenue for construction work to repair a sewer break. The break in the underground sewer line is on the east side of the campus near National Avenue. While the project is in progress, the city will separate it from the area used by students.

The Mitchell Parent-Teacher Association has been authorized to donate $1,000 toward purchase of an Apple Dot-Matrix printer, appropriate interface, digital software and printer paper to be used in conjunction with the computers in the Mitchell School learning center.

Microcomputer hardware purchases for the school district Tuesday night totaled $5,198, including $4,525 for four printers from Kappel and $1,673 for a Wilson Centaurus. Chapter II federal funds will be used.

The vocal music department will donate new outfits for the Granite City High School singing choir. Total cost of outfitting 35 students will be $896.

The City Temple Assembly of God Church was granted permission to use the Maryville School gymnasium on Thursday nights for volleyball.

Also for volleyball, St. Margaret Mary School will use the Frohhardt School gymnasium in November on Mondays from 4:30 to 6; in December through March, the time will be 4:30 to 6 on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Woodrow W. Moad, a Sixth Ward alderman, will hold a ward meeting in the Wilson School gym Oct. 11 from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Joseph Federa, school district director of athletics and physical education, was authorized to attend a National Federation of High School Athletic Administrators annual conference in Kissimmee, Fla., Dec. 10-14.

James J. Jeffries, principal of Webster School, will go to Bloomington, Minn., Nov. 10-12 to attend the 1983 educational computing conference and workshops. His expenses will be paid through the special education program.

Board member David Partney voiced concern about the budget impact of administrative trips that he estimated cost thousands of dollars.

Supt. Davis said the cost is less than that and, in some cases, is reimbursed. He said information that will be obtained is needed by the school district.

South-Western Cable TV was given permission to telecast a soccer game, the Granite City High School soccer tournament and two football games, for broadcast after the date of each event.

Permission was denied for a profit-making junior bowling program to distribute advertising material to students.

In connection with its 1983-84 application for accreditation and its fall semester enrollment report, the board certified that it:

• Maintains updated policies delineating its philosophy, powers, duties, responsibilities, objectives and procedures relevant to the current management of the district.

• Maintains financial and other records in accord with the Illinois School Code's Chapter 122, Article 10.

• Gives each building principal time to perform the duties prescribed by the School Code.

• Has a professional staff with certification and qualifications appropriate to the assignments.

• Complies at all attendance centers with the state health and life safety code.

• Maintains health records indicating compliance with physical examinations, immunizations and other requirements.

• Offers all subject areas required by the School Code.

• Provides for evaluation, supervision and recognition of schools.

• And operates according to statutory requirements and all Illinois State Board of Education rules and regulations.

File 3 charges against GC man

Called to a weekend disturbance, officers alleged finding Robert L. Bruzatis, 26, of Granite City at the apartment of Robbie Jordan, 499 of Kirkpatrick Homes, where a large window in the living room had been smashed.

When the suspect was advised he was under arrest, a struggle ensued and a screen door was damaged, with items on a kitchen table knocked to the floor. An officer reported being kicked several times in the legs and chest.

Bruzatis was forcibly subdued. After booking was completed, he again became combative at the entrance to a cell, swinging his fists and kicking at officers, it was reported.

He was charged with resisting arrest, property damage and battery. A prisoner later complained of pains in the back and a leg and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment. He was returned to police custody three hours later.

CAR IS DAMAGED There was extensive damage to the dashboard of a 1981 Pontiac when unknown persons tried to remove a cassette tape player, the owner, Leonard Lawson, 1511 Fifth St., Madison, reported.

State praise for school board, administration

"Congratulations to you and the board. I've seen articles in the complimentary school boards, but never one like this!"

This was the enthusiastic comment to Granite City School Supt. Bob J. Davis by Gerald R. Glaub, Illinois School Board editor, in a discussion of an article on Pages 6 and 7 of the current issue of the magazine.

Glaub is director of communications of the Illinois Association of School Boards. The IASB is a voluntary service organization of 915 Illinois school boards, with offices in Springfield and Lombard.

The Illinois School Board Journal reprinted a Press-Record commentary written last summer by Nancy Well.

Her Press-Record duties included coverage of governmental agencies. She now is the news staff of the Southern Illinoisian at Carbondale.

Miss Well's views were published under the heading, "School Board leaves good impression."

In addition to reprinting the Press-Record article, the school board magazine presented its own comments, entitled "Looking good."

The ISBJ wrote, "School boards usually receive little credit for the valuable service they render their communities. The newspaper article reprinted below, therefore, is decidedly unusual."

"The article is about the Board of Education in Granite City, but it could have been written about any number of boards across Illinois."

"Although congratulations to the Granite City board are long overdue, that's not the reason for reprinting the article here. Rather, the article makes an important point for all school boards."

"Perhaps because they are about the business of running the schools—members spend an inordinate amount of time and energy learning about their jobs. Surely no other public officials attend as many workshops or read as many books and periodicals about their job."

"On balance, school boards across Illinois receive pretty positive and comprehensive coverage from the news media. (There are exceptions.)"

"The Granite City article goes much farther than others we've seen in focusing on board performance and the decisions that performance of other public bodies."

"This could be an early sign. Perhaps the hard-working school boards of Illinois can look forward to someday receiving some of the recognition that is due them."

"The Granite City article raises another important point, but doesn't discuss it. That's the relationship between the school board and the administration."

"School boards that look good to the public must share the credit with their superintendent—who, in the case of Granite City, happens to be Bob Davis."

"Any successful superintendent once confided that his top priority is 'making the school look good.' That means rather self-serving on the surface. But the fact is a school will not look good unless the schools are satisfying people."

"The school board will not look good unless it gets adequate information and leadership from the administration."

"It's impossible for a school board to look good when the rest of the district looks bad."

"A superintendent who runs the district to suit the desires of its constituents will make even a weak school board look good."

"What's more, the members are quite concerned about how the public will react. They understand that if they mislead even a minute amount, the public reaction will be one of hostility."

"It is, after all, the public's money they are spending. But I've yet to see a group of elected officials consider so carefully how to appropriate each penny."

"As a group, they asked intelligent, thoughtful questions that proved their concern."

"Further, they spoke more than once about 'moral physical stress.' Thompson said."

Under Senate Bill 1396, both home care and inpatient hospice services will be required to comply with state standards for care. The department of public health will be responsible for an annual inspection of each licensed program and may suspend or revoke the license of any hospice for the violations of regulations.

Governor Thompson has signed a bill which would allow any taxpayer who receives a state income tax refund to earmark up to $1,000 of the refund for child abuse prevention programs and shelters.

"The people of this state have shown great concern over the growing number of children who are abused or neglected at home," he said. "This legislation will allow taxpayers to translate their concerns into action by making a voluntary contribution on behalf of children who their school board and confident that the board members are making decisions fairly, honestly and openly."

"After recovering from the shell shock of covering Tuesday night's meeting, which lasted three hours, I have spent some time thinking about the decisions that occurred and the way the board handled each item on the agenda."

"Having been jaded during the past year of covering various governmental meetings to believe that, for the most part, the members are not cognizant of what they are voting for, I found the school board to be an impressive display of capability."

"Frequently, I leave a meeting of elected officials disappointed and bitter. Generally, I believe that the reason this is explained to the reporters present that they could certainly say to protect the public's interest, but requested that (items of) information discussed during that part of the meeting be considered for background only unless there were good reasons to make them public."

"Most elected officials are pretty nervous about allowing the media to stay for an executive session. Most politicians seem not to completely understand the law concerning executive sessions."

"But the Granite City School Board knows the law precisely. The members explained it to me, which is a complete reversal of how it usually works."

"The board members were hospitable and helpful. They did not carry into the meeting the impressions of their function."

"As the new school year approaches, residents can rest assured that their school tax monies are being spent only after careful and sometimes painful—scrutiny and evaluation."

It is reassuring to find that the school district really is being led by a board and administrative men and women of integrity and concern who are concerned about the impact of their decisions."

Davis in 18th year as schools' superintendent

Bobby Joe Davis, mentioned in the accompanying article, is in his 18th school year as superintendent of Granite City Community Unit District Nine.

A former Granite City principal who was administrative assistant to Supt. Russell D. Johnson at the time of the latter's death in 1966, Davis became acting superintendent during the board's search for a successor.

The search was halted when board members concluded that the man already in the job, Davis, was handling it in an effective way that could not easily be duplicated if an "outsider" was hired for the top administrative position.

A kindergarten pupil newly beginning classes in District Nine in the 1966-67 year would have graduated from high school in 1979, completed college in the spring of 1983 and entered graduate school or the "world of work" this fall.

Thus, for several years, every exclusively-Granite City student has known only one public school superintendent—B. J. Davis.

Although he concentrates on his official duties and keeps a relatively low profile in non-education matters, the Mitchell resident is widely known in the education field.

A year ago, Davis was the first educator to be selected by the Lewis and Clark Reading Council for its award recognizing administrators who have made outstanding contributions to literacy.

Affiliated with the International Reading Association, the Lewis and Clark Council serves Madison, St. Clair, Macoupin and Jersey counties.

Enrollment rose steadily for a number of years since 1966 but then began a rapid decrease. Selling two of the three schools that it closed in 1979, the school system still owns 19 classroom buildings as well as an administrative office center, a pre-school center and a supply warehouse.

Twelve of the school buildings are being operated as attendances centers. This fall, one is under lease as a college and six are "mothballed," some awaiting sale and some likely to be retained for possible future school use.

B. J. DAVIS

The administrative staff assembled under Davis' leadership specializes in such fields as curriculum, finance, special education, instruction, physical education, personnel, pupil services, athletics, employee relations, vocational arts, career education, insurance, federal Chapter I English and mathematics, school buildings and grounds, accounting and computer services.

Twelve of the school buildings are being operated as attendances centers. This fall, one is under lease as a college and six are "mothballed," some awaiting sale and some likely to be retained for possible future school use.

Enrollment rose steadily for a number of years since 1966 but then began a rapid decrease. Selling two of the three schools that it closed in 1979, the school system still owns 19 classroom buildings as well as an administrative office center, a pre-school center and a supply warehouse.

Governor Thompson signs bill that could lower utility costs

Governor James R. Thompson signed utility reform legislation recently that could lead to lower utility bills for consumers and improve utility service.

"These bills are a crucial part of the state's effort to provide meaningful reform in our approach toward providing service to Illinois consumers. The first General Assembly, in approving these and other utility measures, is to be commended for these highly complex issues in a timely manner."

Thompson said during a Chicago news conference that he has approved several bills centered on utility reform in Illinois, including the new legislation that provides for the creation of a new Illinois Commerce Commission authority to order the interconnection of intra-state natural gas utilities, a move that could make cheaper natural gas available to consumers.

Another utility related bill signed was one that would form a Citizens Utility Board (CUB). "Senate Bill 187 represents an important effort on the part of the General Assembly to address the increasingly complex and difficult issues of public utility regulatory reform," said Governor Thompson. Thompson told regulators that "it is necessary to change this bill to both protect consumer interests from unintended effects of the bill, as well as to strengthen and improve upon the best features of this legislation."

In other Springfield news, the Illinois Army, Orange Commission will be extended indefinitely under a bill signed. Besides extending the Commission's work for Vietnam veterans who have been exposed to the defoliant Agent Orange, the bill is to direct DCA, a designate community-based agencies that receive grants from state and federal sources and provide job training and other services for veterans.

Hospice programs which provide support and care to the terminally ill and their families will soon be licensed and regulated by the state under legislation approved by Governor Thompson. "It is clear that the hospice philosophy has taken root in Illinois. By establishing regulations in the early years of hospice movement, we will ensure that hospice programs provide the best possible care to terminally ill patients and their families during a time of great emotional and physical stress," Thompson said.

Under Senate Bill 1396, both home care and inpatient hospice services will be required to comply with state standards for care. The department of public health will be responsible for an annual inspection of each licensed program and may suspend or revoke the license of any hospice for the violations of regulations.

Governor Thompson has signed a bill which would allow any taxpayer who receives a state income tax refund to earmark up to $1,000 of the refund for child abuse prevention programs and shelters.

"The people of this state have shown great concern over the growing number of children who are abused or neglected at home," he said. "This legislation will allow taxpayers to translate their concerns into action by making a voluntary contribution on behalf of children who deperately need our help and attention."

House Bill 537 will empower the Department of Children and Family Services to establish a Child Abuse Prevention Fund to receive voluntary contributions from taxpayers. Revenues from the Fund will be used to administer child abuse shelters and programs and to establish up to five child protective teams which will review and monitor cases of severe neglect or abuse and advise the Department of Children and Family Services on case treatment.

Passion play will be given in Illinois

Bald Knob Mountain near Alto, Pa., Ill., known nationally for its 111-foot steel and white porcelain cross, will be the site of the Bald Knob Passion Play beginning in June 1984.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the stage and amphitheater were held this month.

The Cross of Peace Foundation, which maintains the Bald Knob monument, will produce the play. The play will be performed in the evenings of June 13 in the evenings on the east hillside of Bald Knob, where Easter sunrise services have been held since 1937.

A schedule of 57 performances is planned from June through August of next summer.

Robert Cundiff of Carbondale will serve as playwright and general manager. He is a writer and teacher who is presently in doctoral studies in theater and speech communication at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Also working with the production is Michael Overton of St. Louis. He is helping as assistant general manager on an internship from the SIU theater department.

James Miller, a scene designer from Coon Rapids, Minn., is drawing up the plans for the stage and amphitheater.

Sean Platter is designing the Passion Play brochure. He is a graphic artist from East Alton.

Modification of the site to accommodate a stage is scheduled to be finished this fall. The amphitheater will also be used for the annual sunrise services.

The cast will number approximately 40 and will include both local residents and actors from other areas of the country.

According to Cundiff, the Cross of Peace Foundation is seeking contributions from private individuals as well as corporate and other sources to meet the expenses of opening the Passion Play. The mailing address of the foundation is Box 100, Alto, Pa. 62905.
